

Cathy,
So a real sweet girl.
Have a real blast in "64!"
Be good always, and good luck in the many years to come.
Your friend Always,
Love Ya Lots!
Cheryl

Cathy,
Hope you have a wonderful Junior year at Buchser and that all you hope and wish for will come true.
Love,
Marilyn
P.S. I hope someday that we will be able to talk about Hawaii (Hogout) After I've gone there.

Time and the Diamond ♦♦♦

Time, on an endless journey, knows his own destiny. Creating, developing, and destroying in a pattern which, to the human eye, seems blind to purpose, but in actuality, is shaped by plans too complex for the mind.

The life of the high school student is but a pinpoint on that pattern, yet minute designs weave across its small surface . . . ultimately forming a diamond, shadowed by another—as the life of the student is shadowed on the school.

Four points has this diamond, and four years the student: as a freshman, a sophomore, a junior, and a senior. Each point denotes a measure of time and more, for the effect of time on the adolescent is the release of childish dreams and the acceptance of the realities of maturity.

Four points has the diamond, and four years Buchser High. Powerful time has left few marks on the modern campus, completed four years ago.

As the fourth graduating class, the class of '63, leaves Buchser, it casts behind shadows which become a part of the school. Each class in its turn will do the same.

And as the years roll by, each Bruin's diamond will take on a broader meaning as it forms the four points of his life—childhood, adolescence, adulthood, and finally, old age. Then the shape will be unmistakably that of a diamond, for the life will be priceless indeed.

The 1963 KODIAK is sincerely dedicated to Mr. Donald Callejon by the KODIAK staff. Mr. Callejon has shown an extensive interest in this yearbook and in the student body.

Think: the shadow on the dial
For the nature most undone
Marks the passing of the trial,
Proves the presence of the sun.

ATIONS

Time passes quietly through the gates.

This is the Senior class officers Reg Gage, president; Gary Chong, vice president; Mariangela Convertino, secretary; Ernie Flores, treasurer.

SENIOR CLASS

The Class of '63 returned to Buchser confident of their abilities. Their childhood seemed far behind as they surveyed the world with mature eyes. Time had brought them experience in coping with the problems of high school life.

Rather than feeling a part of the school, Seniors felt that Buchser was a part of them. Gentle followers found that they were now leaders and fulfilled their responsibilities with ease.

Time slipped by without warning. The fabulous Ball, "Til We Meet Again," left them starry-eyed, but the nearing of graduation brought them back to earth.

Life was suddenly upon the seniors. The future of which they had dreamed was now the present. They had great expectations of what they were to become, but the dream was one thing—to act, quite another. Their lives were sun dials; their future, the shadow. The intensity of the shadow is theirs to determine.

The impression which time cannot erase.

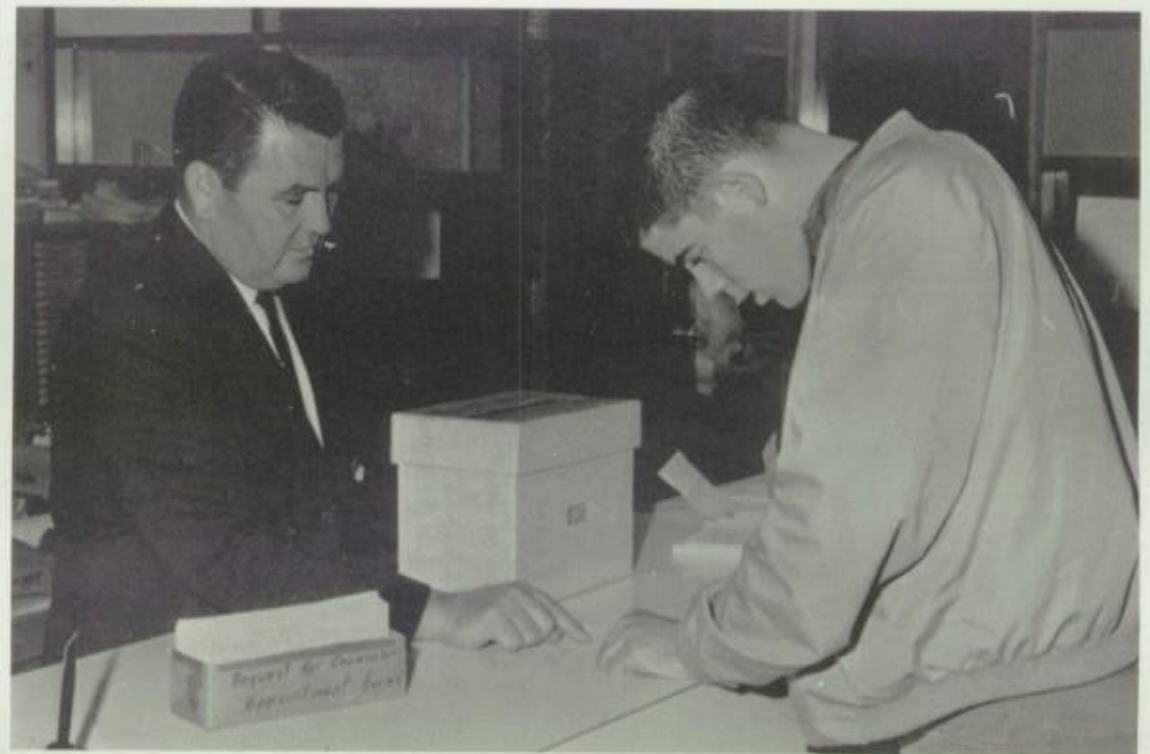

This is Buchser High...

Shadows dance at a corner of the administration building.

It is through his academic life that lasting impressions are formed on the mind of the student. The admirable teachers and the opinions which he forms, as well as the actual subject matter he digests are of vital importance to the broadness of his life.

In this section classroom scenes have been recorded. Beginning with the offices and the A-wing, the KODIAK offers a tour of Buchser High.

Mr. Jack Lyon, Senior class counselor, guides Steve Harter as he completes a form in the administration office.

Cheryl Mellott pauses as chivalrous Al Garcia opens the door for Caroline Richards, Buchser's exchange student.

The fragrance which drifts through the A-wing belongs to the kitchens in the Home Economics Department where girls are readying themselves for their future roles as homemakers. Beginning with foods which require only simple preparation, the young cooks progress to more complex tasks and eventually learn to produce a delicious dinner with ease.

Sewing machines buzz constantly in another section of this department as clothing students work. The finished products have taught them many skills in addition to providing them with new articles of clothing to add to their growing wardrobes.

Butterhorns, curlicues, and cloverleaves take shape in the nimble hands of Sharon Jodoin as Judy Viega (left) and Diane Burgin look on.

Advanced clothing students have an opportunity to sew smart clothes for their wardrobes as Nan Ramos has done here.

Home Economics and Public Speaking Departments ♦ ♦ ♦

Barbara Teifeld employs a stage scene from "The Merry Wives of Windsor" made by Eugene Stirm in a public speaking talk about the Elizabethan Era.

A course in public speaking teaches the student to speak more impressively. Articulation, speech content, posture, eye contact—all of these require careful training and concentration.

Through speeches which they write themselves, the speakers learn the effective use of these factors in keeping their audiences interested.

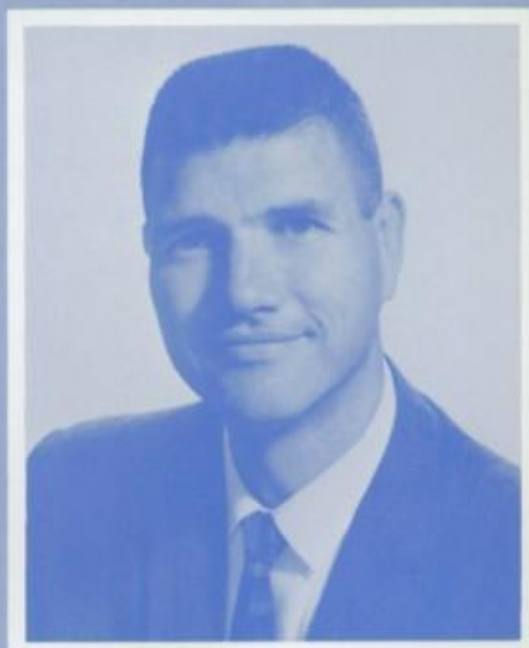

Impromptu talks are also given to develop quick thinking and poise.

The use of a short-circuit television provides entertainment as well as aid for the speaker who may watch himself speak and try to improve himself accordingly.

At the close of the year the students of public speaking emerge as more complete individuals who are unafraid and very able to express themselves.

Underclassmen receive a generous smattering of all facets of English, while juniors and seniors concentrate on American and English literature, respectively.

Solving life's problems mathematically

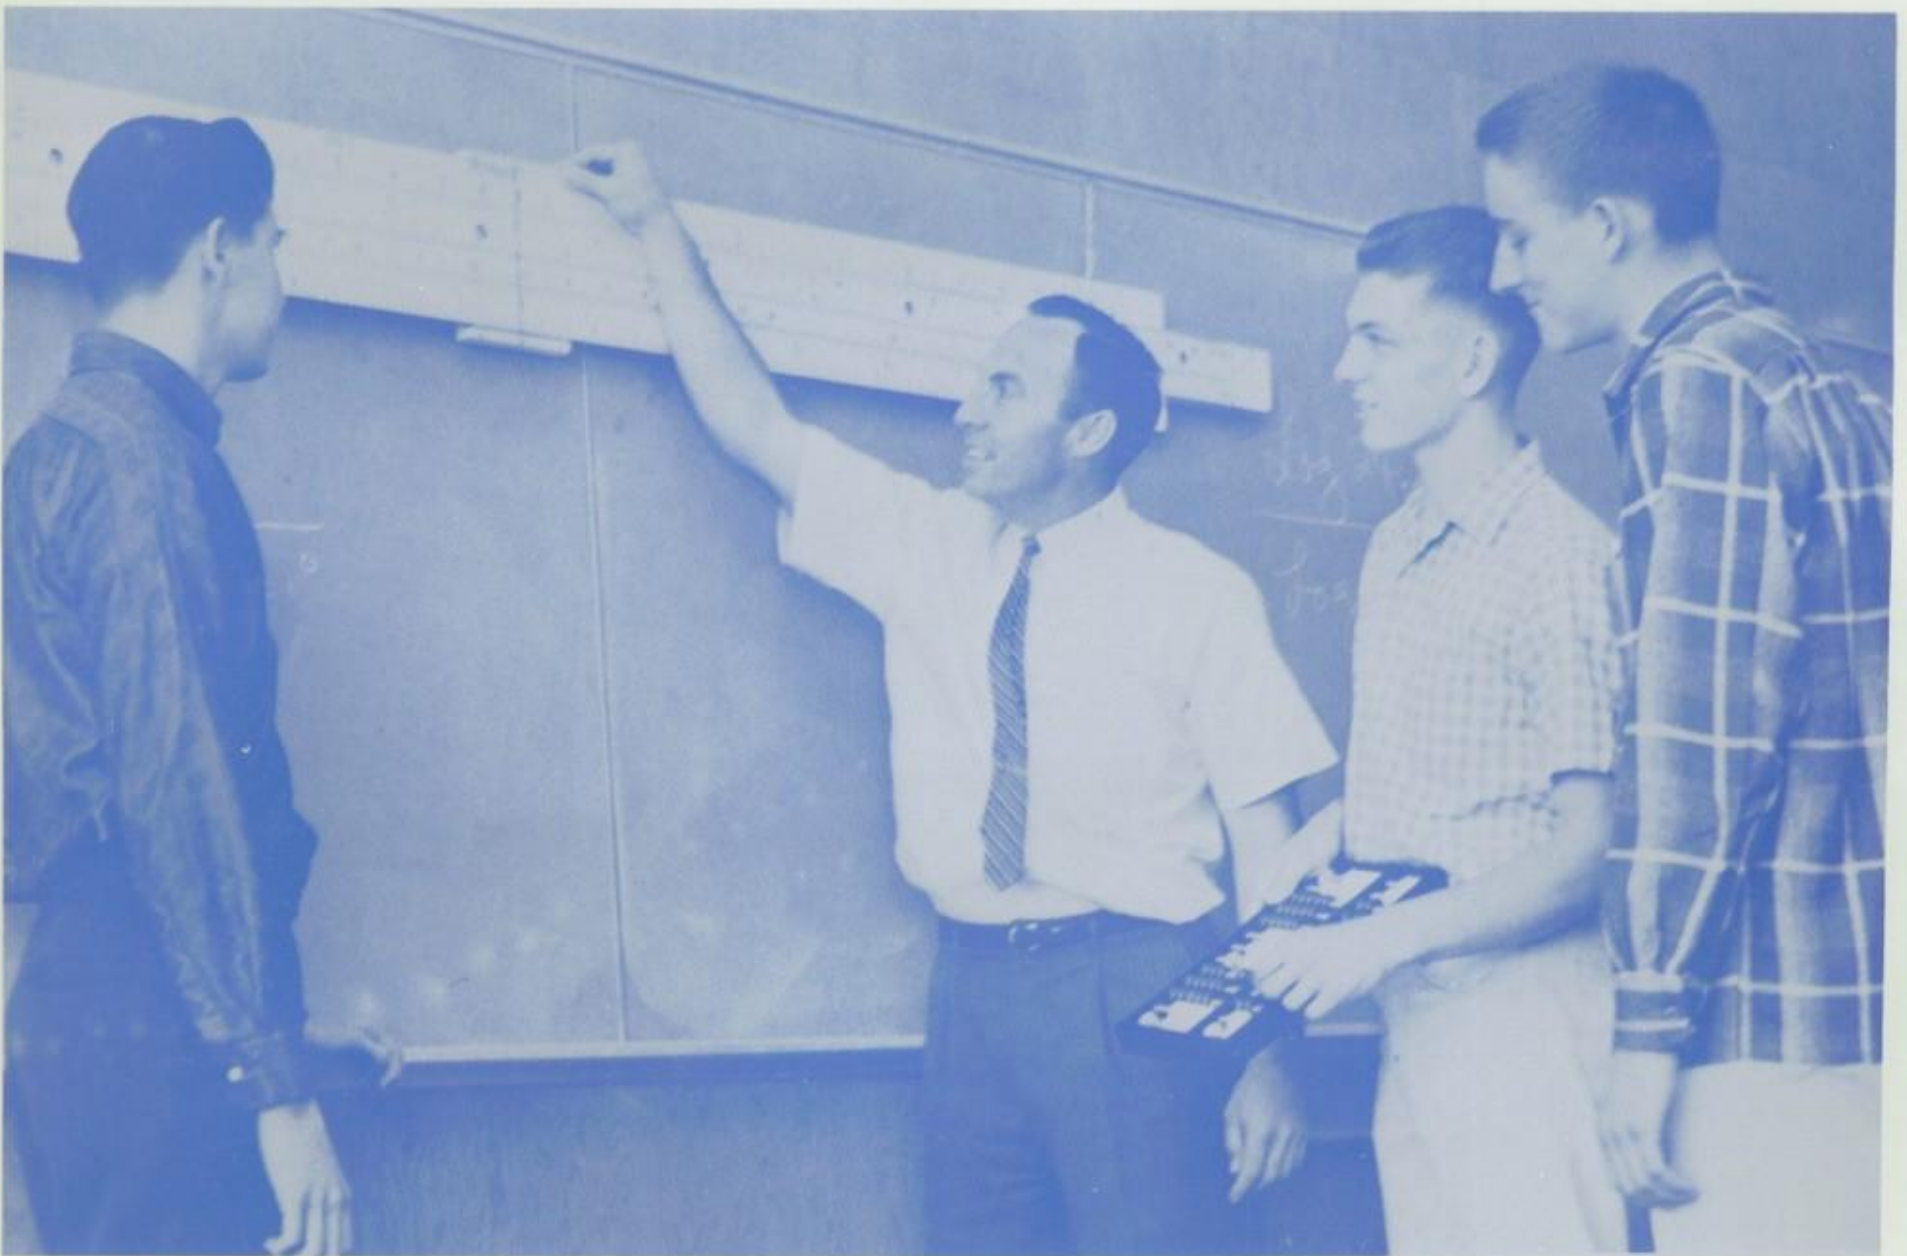

The vital importance of the mathematical and scientific work of Albert Einstein has been universally acknowledged.

Sine, cosine, and tangent curves whirl around Buchser's C-wing, the home of the Math Department. Here, students have several phases of mathematics available to them: introduction to algebra, mathematics fundamentals, Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, trigonometry, and solid geometry with a preview of calculus.

Through math, the student develops his ability to reason. Each new theorem has hidden logic which the true mathematician must learn to discern.

The once fuzzy concept becomes a sharp reality in the minds of advanced students—but only through disciplined thinking.

Mr. Filice demonstrates the versatility of the slide rule as a product of progressive evolution over the old-time abacus held by Tom Johnson. Tim Loomis (left) and Alan King look on.

Experimenting with momentum are Jan De Shera, Mr. McFarland, Len Sprinkles and Kathy Blamey in their physics class.

The search for physical universal truths becomes the goal of students who delve into science at Buchser. Time and devotion have allowed man to learn a fraction of that which can be discovered. The remainder lies hidden for new minds to uncover.

These new minds are being developed by courses such as general science, biology, chemistry, physics, and physiology, all of which are available at Buchser.

Each year, students begin their social science courses by reflecting on the importance of history as a key to understanding. They become more keenly aware of the world around them as they progress through high school.

Through United States History, California History, Civics, and American Problems, Bruins develop a deep respect for their democratic heritage while learning how they themselves can strive toward a better America. Likewise, a general knowledge of foreign institutions is acquired in World History, a study of our particular continent being made in Latin American History.

Seeking knowledge independently

Books, books, and more books line the shelves of Buchser's spacious library. Between two hard covers there exists an empire, growing to power then crumbling to dust. A second book may house the works of Shakespeare while still another dreams of worlds yet unknown to man. All of these vicarious experiences and scores of information are available to the students.

An able librarian, Mrs. Hillman, and her assistants provide easy access to any treasure which the library might hold.

The exotic sounds of French, Spanish, and Latin float through Buchser as students acquaint themselves with a fresh idea in language. Through this new mode of expression, they feel a closeness to the particular country and are more able to understand its people.

French III was taught this year for the first time, enabling advanced students to develop a fluency which they had not known previously.

A four year course in Spanish was also begun, providing the school with competent translators.

After two years of Latin, the student acquires an appreciation of the complicated structure of the ancient language as well as a familiarity with the Roman Empire.

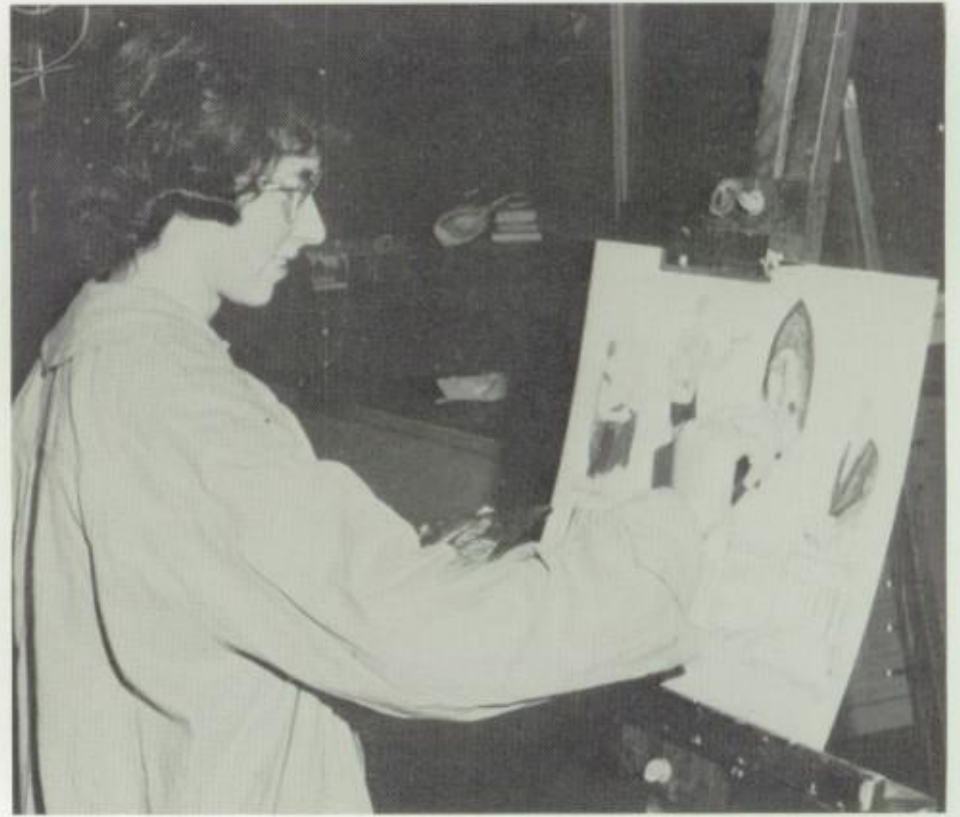

Latin provides the student with a solid background of the structure of languages, as well as an appreciation of the ancient Romans. Pictured here are optima discipula Linda Ellis, a Latin III student, and Mrs. Donna Walker, magistra.

An eye for beauty and hands and a mind to recapture it are of prime importance to the artist. The ability to take notice of the picturesque and the desire to express emotion are equally essential. Young talent is constantly being discovered and encouraged by the Art Department at Buchser.

New techniques are presented to the art student which he may like to explore as a hobby or develop as a career. Whatever use he may make of it, the appreciation and awareness of natural beauty acquired from an art course will help to fulfill his life.

In the west corner of the Buchser campus lie the industrial shops. Bruins seeking a trade find that these shops are a very handy training ground. Others who do not plan to be employed by industry benefit from taking these classes as they provide the mechanical knowledge so vital to them. Future engineers are certain to gain useful experience from a course in mechanical drawing. Whatever his plans may be, the student learns to work with his hands in order to form a product in which he can take pride.

A famous financier, Bernard Baruch made his fortune on the stock market and is now counseling other businesses as well as the Federal Government.

The development of versatile businessmen and women is the prime objective of the Business Department. Through a series of courses, the pupil acquires skills such as typing, stenography, record keeping, and bookkeeping.

In addition to skills, these future economic leaders learn to be both cordial and wise in their dealings with others. The classes of general business, business English, business math, and sales contribute to this factor.

Talented students may gain actual experience through office practice.

Consisting of several groups, the Music Department has been known as outstanding to those who have witnessed their fine concerts. Traditionally, the groups' main performances have been at the Winter, Christmas, and Spring Concerts. This year their musical, "Damn Yankees" was hailed as a tremendous success.

A recent addition, the Men's Glee provides an opportunity for male vocalists to sing songs written especially for deep voices while the Girls' Chorus works with lighter melodies. The Choir prepares young singers for the A Cappella Choir which is the central performing group.

From the members of the A Cappella Choir come the Madrigal Singers, a versatile, select group consisting of the more outstanding vocalists.

Under the direction of Mr. Di Salvo, the orchestra has worked to produce unity in their music although many opportunities are given to soloists. Mr. Carre's marching and concert band expanded both in size and quality this year, displaying a great deal of talent.

The conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, Leonard Bernstein, sustained his world-wide fame recently when he wrote the score for West Side Story.

Santa Clara High School student Donna De Varona set a new record for the 400-meter medley and relay in the National Women's Championships in April of 1963.

When President Kennedy stressed the importance of physical fitness, the Physical Education Department quickly responded. New exercises were introduced to the girls and were performed daily in most classes. A six-week unit of Body Mechanics was added to the curriculum.

The Girls' Athletic Association, consisting of highly skilled girls, met inter-school tournaments with enthusiasm this year. Bowling became a popular sport among them.

Al Piedmont demonstrates his agility in rope climbing.

The proper development and maintenance of the young body requires a great deal of physical exercise. It is the goal of the Boys' Physical Education Department to provide the opportunity for such exercise as well as to promote competition in sports.

Although not all boys are able to participate in school teams, each is encouraged to improve his abilities and to strive toward good health. It appears that the Physical Education Department has achieved its purpose this year since several Bruins were able to complete the 50-mile hike!

JUNIOR CLASS...

The potential graduates of '64 returned to Buchser as seasoned veterans for their Junior year. Time and work had brought them prestige which they hadn't known as sophomores.

They soon discovered that a long road lay ahead . . . the challenge of their junior year.

Time seemed almost to stand still as they burned the midnight oil studying. They thought that the night of their prom would never come. But study brought them knowledge, and waiting brought them fun in the form of "Moonlit Gardens."

Their one-time dream changed to an anxiety when they suddenly realized that their senior year was only a summer away. The hourglass sand was running short. Soon they would enter the halls of Buchser for a memorable year as the mighty Seniors, class of '64.

The Bay Area learned to drink tea and eat crumpets when Caroline Richards, Buchser's first foreign exchange student, came from Hampton Court, England. Cheryll Melott's family welcomed Caroline into its home.

Making speeches and working on her Bear Prints column, "Bits o' Britain" occupied much of Caroline's time although she found opportunities for social life as well.

Caroline's poise and good humour brought her many friends during her all-too-brief stay in the 'States.

Louann Pomeroy, after extensive screening, was chosen to become Buchser's diplomat-destiny: Concepcion, Chile. She left Santa Clara on February 7, flying to Chile via Miami, Florida.

The family with whom Louann stayed included a 17-year-old daughter, so Louann felt right at home. She attended an all-girl school where she made many new friendships.

When Louann returned to the United States in September, she brought with her romantic stories about life in Chile.

Jim Miceli finds himself hemmed in by a quintet of eager Panthers. The Bruins re-enter the field in style during halftime of the season opener against Del Mar High. Backfield standouts throughout the season were (top to bottom): Al Della Maggiore, quarterback; Captain Mike Stuart, halfback; Len Sprinkles, halfback; and Jim Miceli, quarterback.

Despite an excellent start in which the Bruins ended a nine game losing streak carried over from the 1961 season, with victories over Del Mar and Camden highs, the '62 campaign again provided a long and dismal fall. The disastrous gridiron showing reached a climax when the Bruins dropped the "Big Game" with Santa Clara after leading by two touchdowns at halftime. This marked the second consecutive season that saw the Panthers come back from a two touchdown deficit to nip the Bruins.

VARSITY GRIDDEERS START FAST

Buchser 13—Del Mar 6

Buchser's first victory in over a year, came at the expense of the Del Mar Don's. Jim Miceli broke a scoreless tie in the opening minutes of the third quarter, plunging into the enemy end zone for six points, from a yard out. Later in the period, the Bruins hit paydirt again, on a 22 yard pass from signal-caller Al Della Maggiore to halfback Mike Stuart.

Buchser 19—Camden 6

A 49 yard runback of an intercepted pass by lineman Mike Pine set up the winning tally for Buchser's upset over the highly regarded Cougars. Al Della Maggiore tossed three TD passes, two to Tony Santich and one to Phil Bruce. The Bruins second straight conquest was a great team effort. The Cougars were able to penetrate the Buchser 35 yard stripe only once in the entire contest, and were held to the meager sum of 128 yards.

Len Sprinkles is downed after a long gain against the Panthers.

A sad Buchser varsity listens to the alma mater following Santa Clara defeat.

Buchser 6—Fremont 20

Playing against a team which they had never beaten and without the services of injured halfback Mike Stuart, the Bruins dropped a tough one to the Indians in their league opener. Buchser, ahead 6-0 going into the final quarter on a spectacular 26 yard pass play from Al Della Maggiore to Phil Bruce, ran out of gas in the final minutes.

THEN MEET THE PANTHERS ♦♦♦

Buchser 13—Santa Clara 19

A last second fumble on the one yard line, after a brilliant 16 yard run, collapsed Buchser's chances and saved the Panther's second straight come-from-behind-win over their "Big Game" rivals before a capacity crowd at Townsend Field.

Len Sprinkles was the Bruin's leading rusher with a 4.8 yard per carry average and a TD to his credit. Jim Miceli hit Phil Bruce on an 18 yard play for the other Buchser score.

Buchser 7—Mountain View 21

A five yard pass play from Skip Della Maggiore to Gary Jacobson gave a hard fighting Bruin eleven its only score against the Eagles. After a close first half, Mountain View iced the game with a pair of third quarter scores.

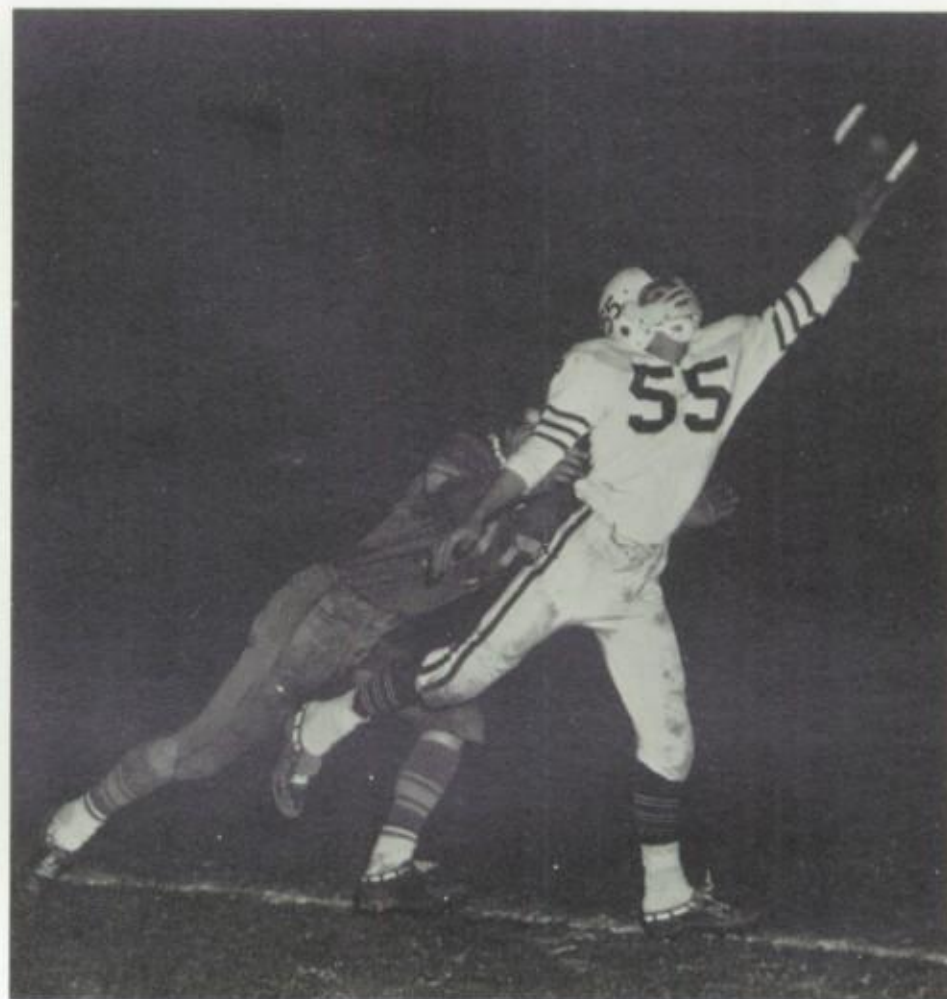

Buchser 32—Awalt 19

Capitalizing on two fumbles and a pass interception, Buchser clobbered the Spartans for its first league win since 1960. Rex Calhoun, playing his last game as a Bruin, rolled up 73 yards and scored what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Gary Jacobson and Al Della Maggiore each scored twice.

Gary Jacobson reaches for pass in Panther game.

Buchser 7—Cupertino 19

Buchser's lone tally came in the last period, as Al Della Maggiore completed his sixth touchdown in four outings. This one was snagged by the lanky end Tony Santich, who gained an honorable mention in the N-SCVAL All-League balloting.

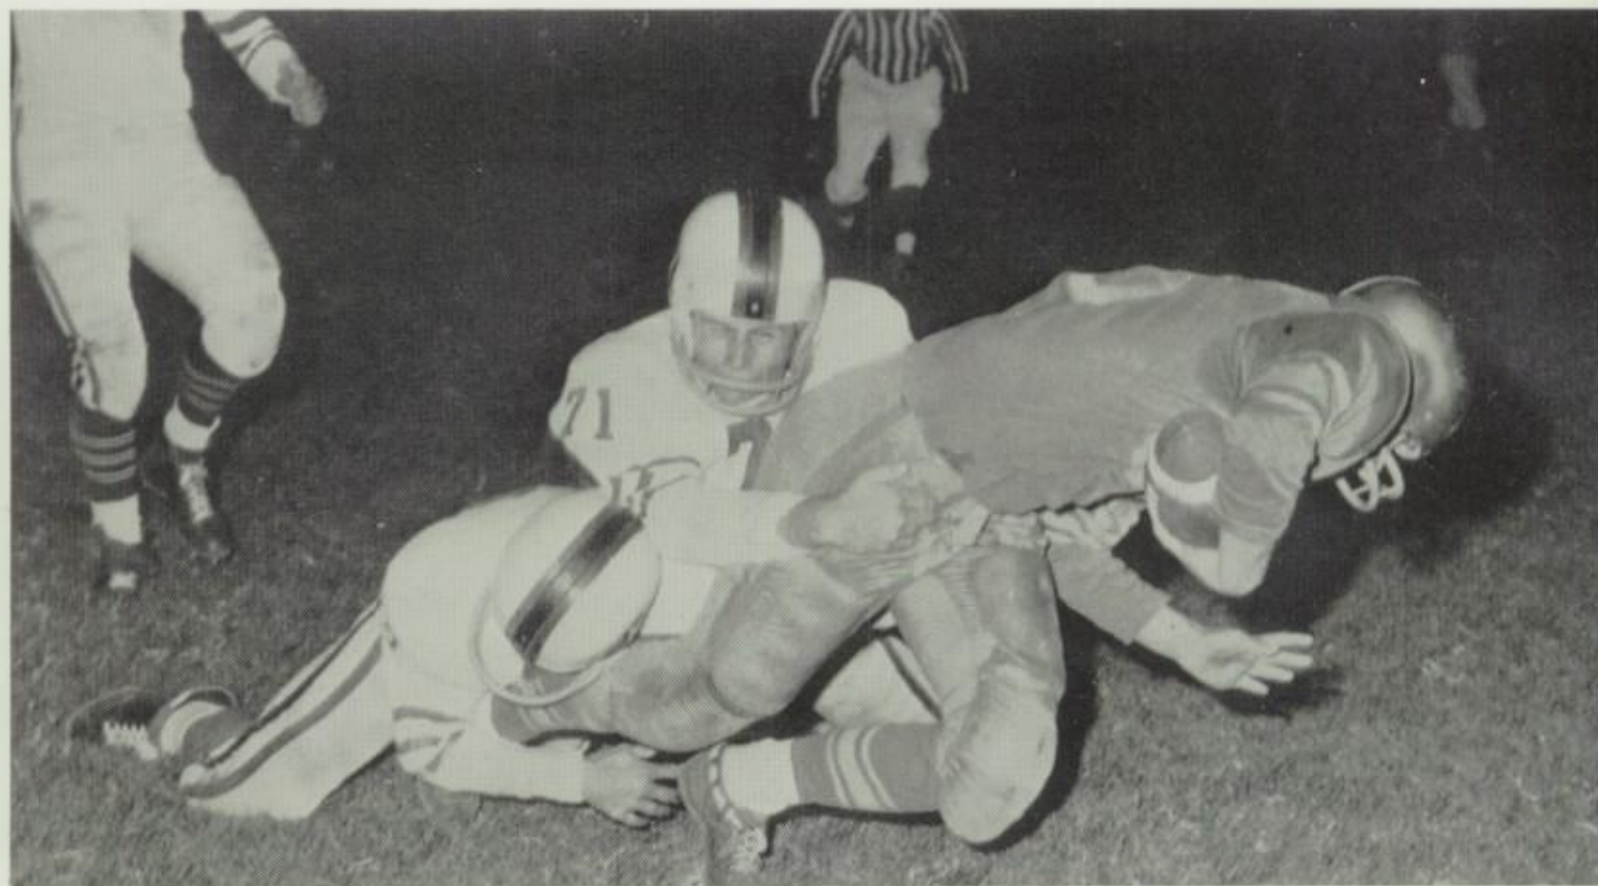

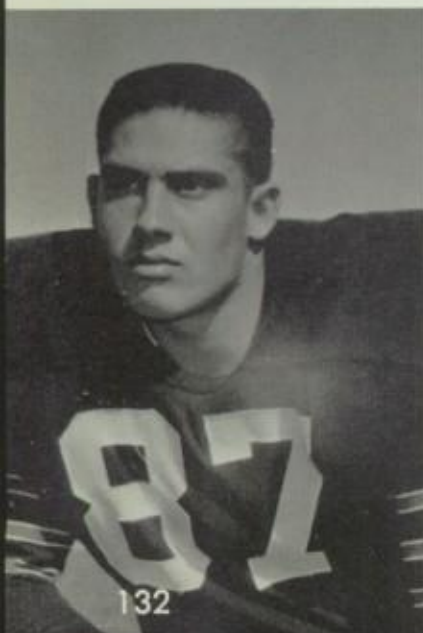

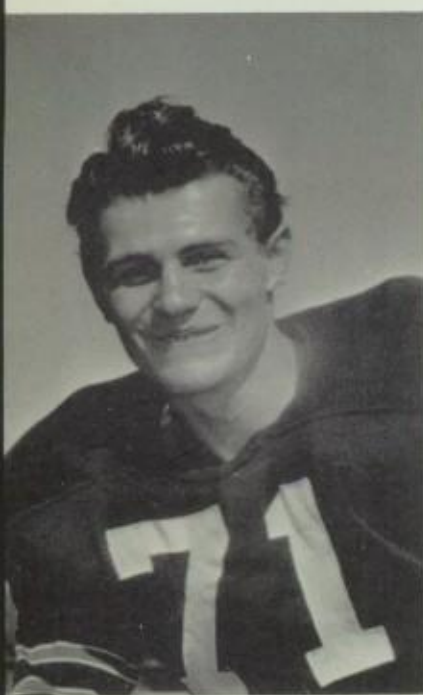

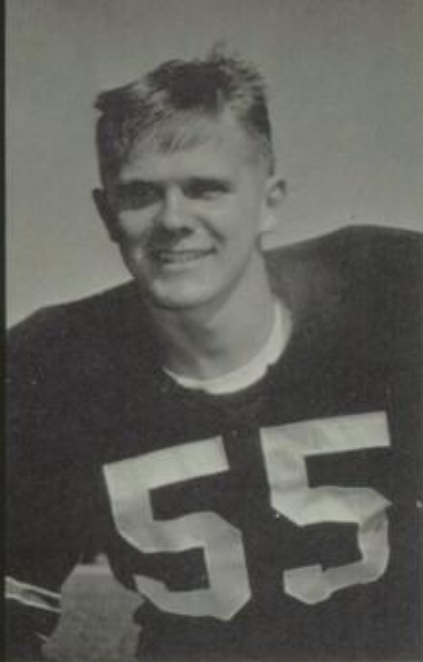

Buchser 0—Sunnyvale 39

An aggressive Jet defense held the Bruins to a measly 67 yards, while the offense had little trouble running over the smaller Buchser line. Len Sprinkles galloped 53 yards in the second period only to have the play called back because of a penalty.

Buchser 7—Los Altos 32

Al Della Maggiore, who did a fine job at quarterback the first eight games of the season, moved over to a halfback slot for his first try on a full-time basis. He piled up 85 yards in only five carries. But the Knights had little trouble containing the rest of the Bruin offense.

AWALT WIN AVERTS CELLAR

Among the linemen seeing the most action were ends Gary Jacobson (top) and Phil Bruce, guard Mike Pine and center Jack Martin. Pine is helping another Bruin bring down a Panther back in the "Big Game."

An excited Coach Al Shuler shouts instructions to Jacobson and Phil Ortiz. The Bruin bench has all eyes glued on the play in the Del Mar game.

30's coach, John Sepulveda, was satisfied with the "baby Bruins" season showing, although they had dropped five of their seven league games, none by more than six points.

The 30's were primarily a defensive team, with the exception of George Sylvia, who was unanimously selected by the league coaches for an all-league offensive half-back position.

Four Bruin Bees were picked on the all-league defensive unit. These included Ken Baker, middle guard; John Bailey, linebacker; Tim Power, tackle; and Earl Freitas, half-back.

In addition, Dave Torres, tackle, and Marc Feldman, guard, received honorable mention.

Defending champions in the N-SCVAL, Bruin harriers were hit with an epidemic of injuries that greatly weakened squad potential and was climaxed with the unfortunate death of frosh runner Kenneth Lapka while competing on the Stanford golf course.

Top runner was Joe Biber, outstanding miler, who was a holdover from the 1961 champions. Other top veterans were Jim Johnston, Larry Fleck and Mike Chames. Biber was honored by being named to the All-Northern California Cross Country team and honored at an awards program in Palo Alto.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL. Front Row: Managers Gary Lowe, Bill O'Hare, Pete Larko, Larry Thomas, Jim Gregory, Dave Briner, Larry Cunningham, Frank Leiser. Second Row: Mr. Armer, Darrel Brooks, John Schrader, Ray Fransen, Jim Edson, Larry Latari, Don Alcorn, Robert Knittle, Mr. Cara. Third Row: Mike Walker, Mike Duffy, Roger Erickson, Jim Bucks, Greg Krodel, Gary Burk, Gary Palmer, Wayne Vara. Back Row: Tim Neal, Steve Johnson, Jim Jones, Scott Sells, Sergio Silva, Steve Jordon, Jim Alcorn, Gary Walker.

JAYVEES FAIL TO WIN

Coaches Wayne Armer and Herb Lara manage to smile in spite of the score.

The Junior Varsity football squad failed to win for the second straight year behind the masterminding of head coach Wayne Armer with the strategic assistance of coach Herb Lara.

However, the team looked great on occasion—such as a long scoring romp against the Homestead varsity and when viciously applying the "bear-hug" tackle to pull down some of the "mooses" operating against the small but high-spirited Jayvees.

CAGERS COME CLOSE TO CROWN

Guard Jerry Gallo leaps into air, eyes riveted on hoop, as he lays up basket that sends James Lick game into overtime following Bruin fast break. Center Tony Santich (54) and forward Roger Call (42) are roaring down the court for a follow up attempt as Lick players get set to fight for the rebound in case the shot is missed.

WITH TOP EFFORT

Buchser's gallant bid for its first N-SCVAL cage crown faltered in the stretch when Los Altos came from behind to stop the Bruins and fell apart when Mountain View and Awalt scored upset wins over the locals.

However, the Bruins did finish a close third with a 6 and 3 loop mark in the ten club circuit and an overall record of 15 wins and 7 losses for the season.

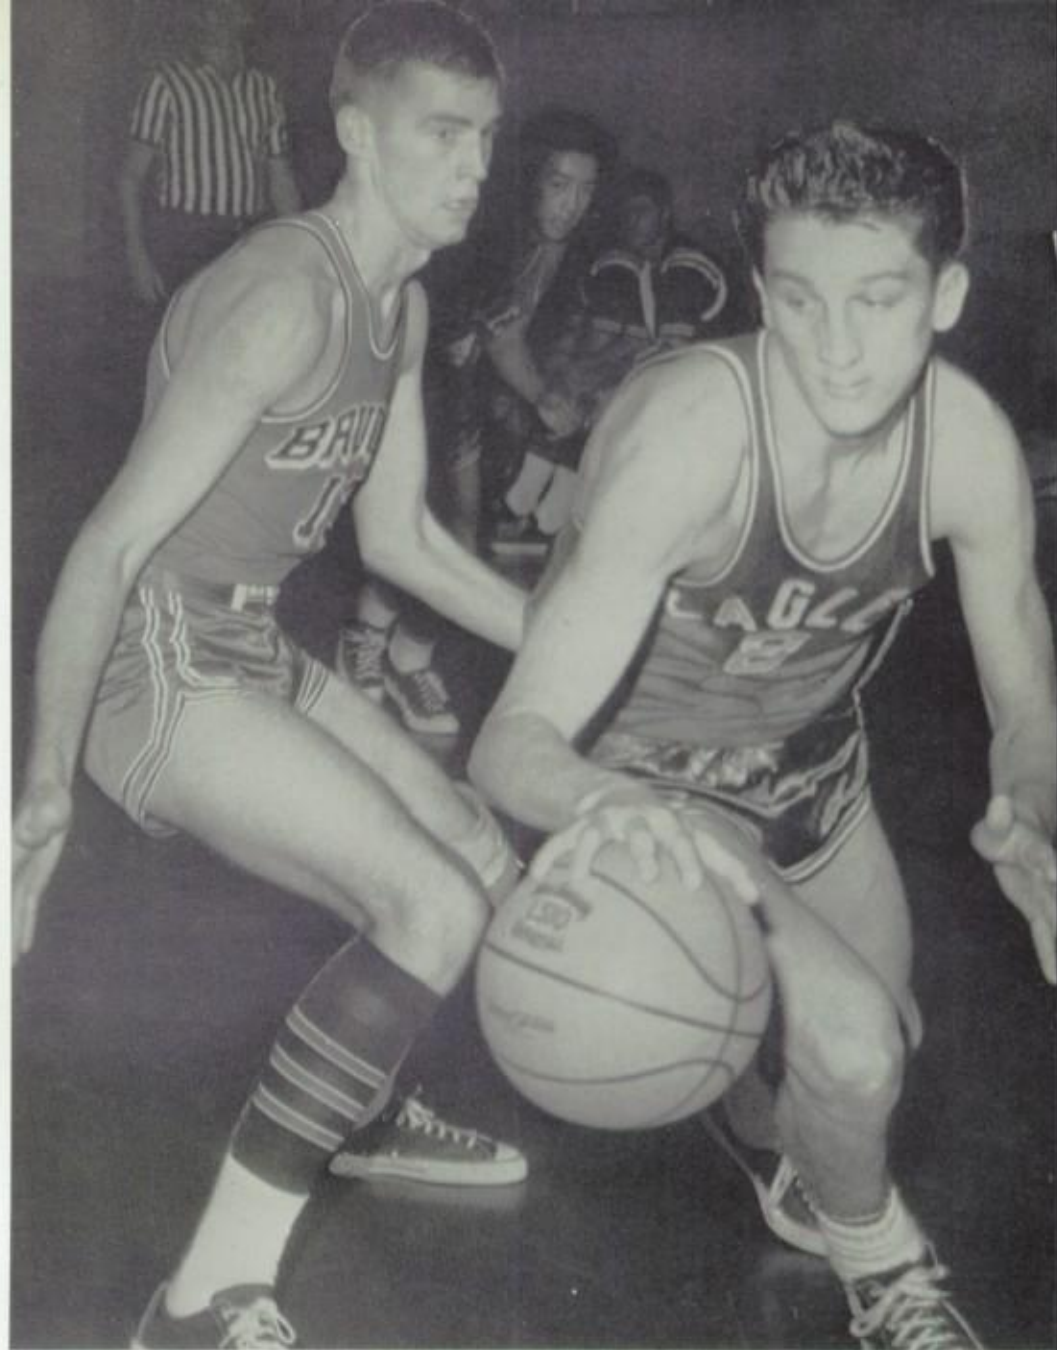

Both rebound star Steve Harter and center Tony Santich were first team All-City selections with Harter making the All-N-SCVAL team as well.

The Bruins were the only team in the loop to knock over the championship Sunnyvale club and were feared by all opponents.

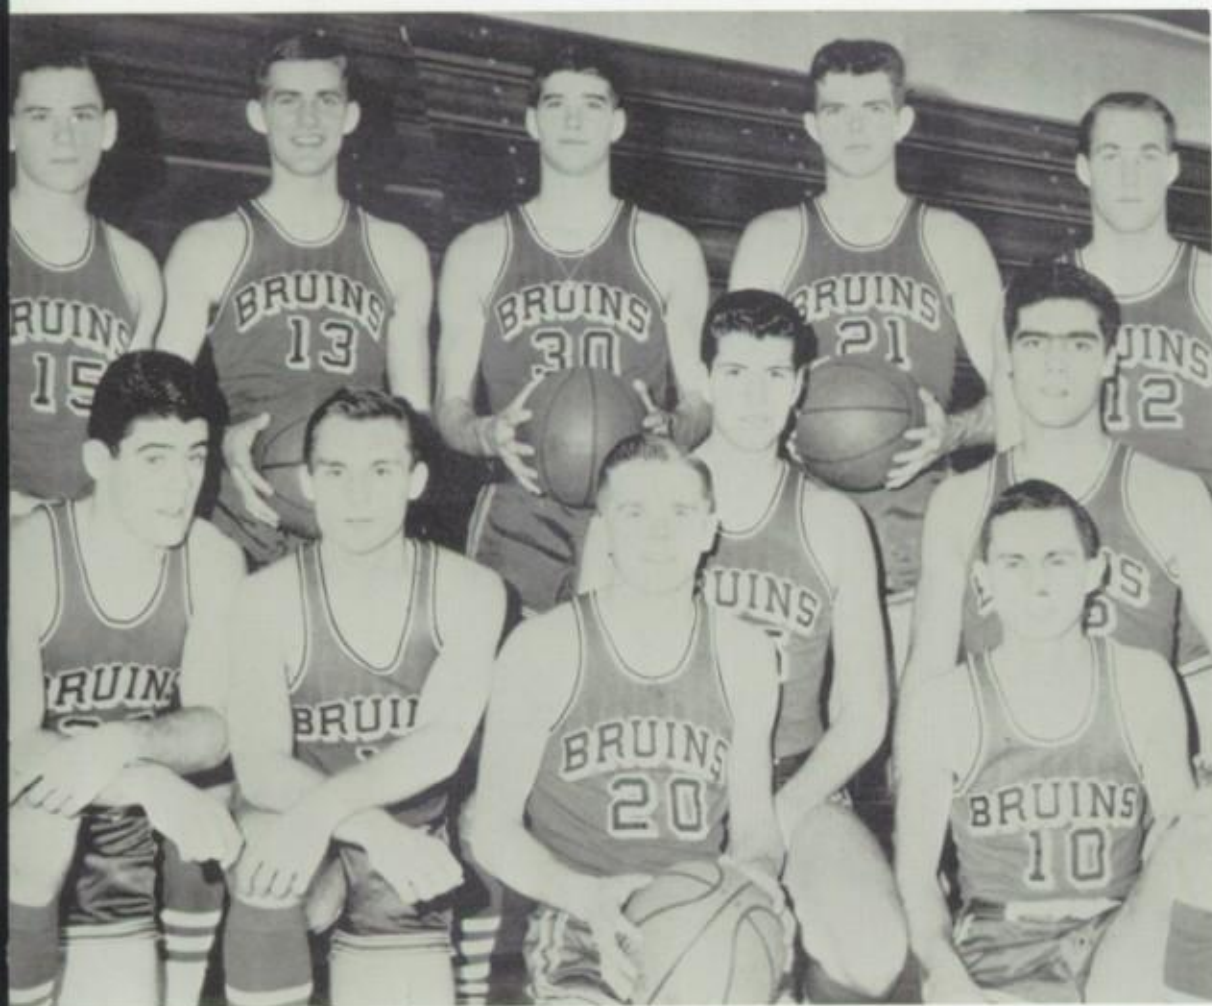

Harter led Bruin scorers with 89 points for the nine loop games and was awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy.

Buchser took the City championship with a 46-36 win over Santa Clara followed by a 66-31 crushing of Wilcox.

Coach Jerry Jones started an All-Senior five and all the starters shone during the season with Vic Zgorzelski, Mike Stuart and Gray Jacobsen making the second team All-City five.

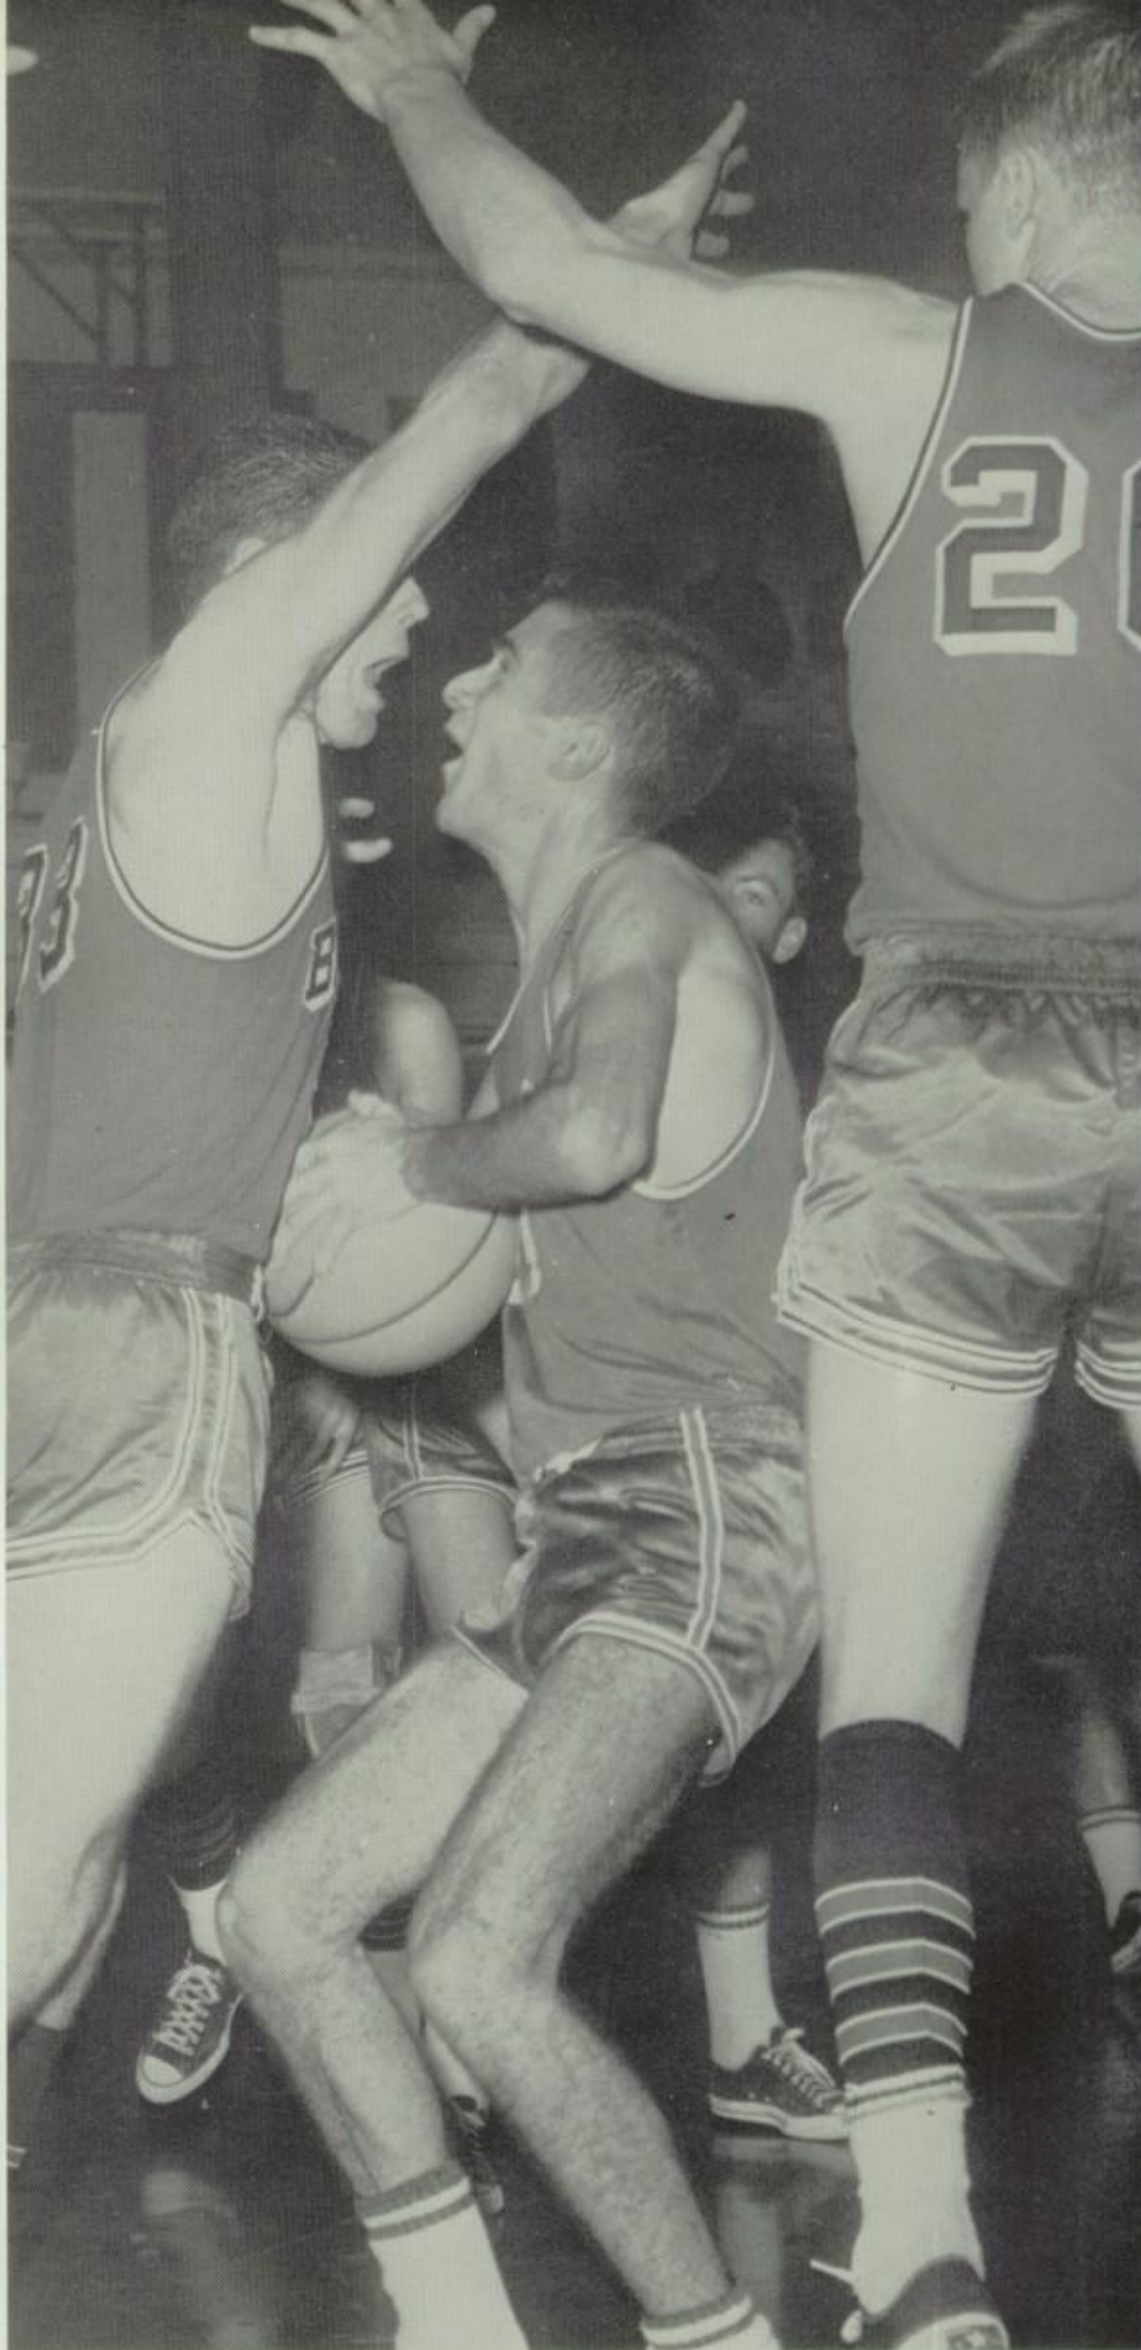

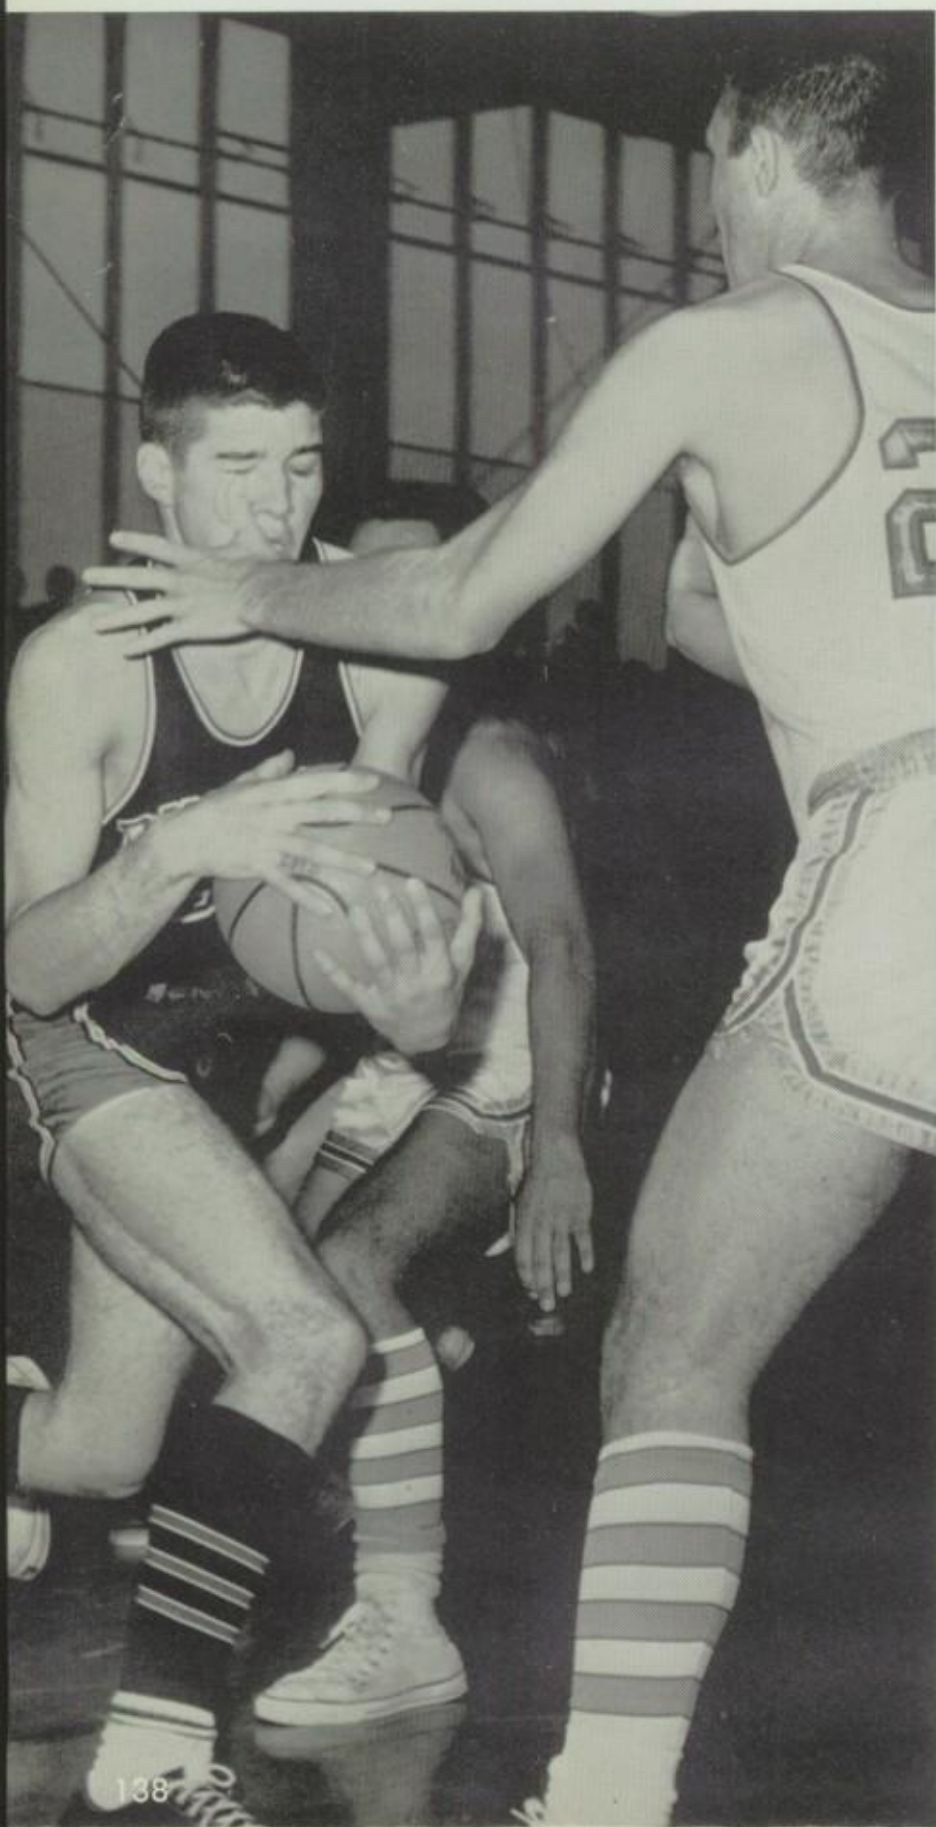

Forward Vic Zgorzelski moves after fast dribbling Mountain View guard in game that witnessed Eagles nab 43-36 upset win.

Buchser closed its season with a 40-30 victory over Cupertino but campus joy was lessened when it was learned that the locals fell only 4 points shy of winning the Grogan award for the best team defense. Hopes for the coming season are pessimistic indeed with only three reserves, Roger Call, Jim McKee and John Casseris returning.

CLOSE CONTACT MARKS CAGE PLAY

Bruins Steve Harter and Gary Jacobson leave startled Saint Francis player no where to move. Center Tony Santich gets the sticky thumb of a Sunnyvale player in the eye before getting pass off in fast break that helped net Bruins a 43-28 upset win over the league champions.

Gary Jacobson jumps for high pass into scoring zone during James Lick game. A tense Bruin coach Jerry Jones and a tense crowd watch Bruins drop title hopes in Los Altos game.

Bruin lightweight cagers, coached by Don Curtis, dropped a double bill to Fremont High midway in the season to eliminate them from further title consideration.

Both the "C's" and the "D's" were up and down quintets but played some topnotch basketball when on their game.

Homestead, Fremont and Los Altos scored wins in both games against the Bruins.

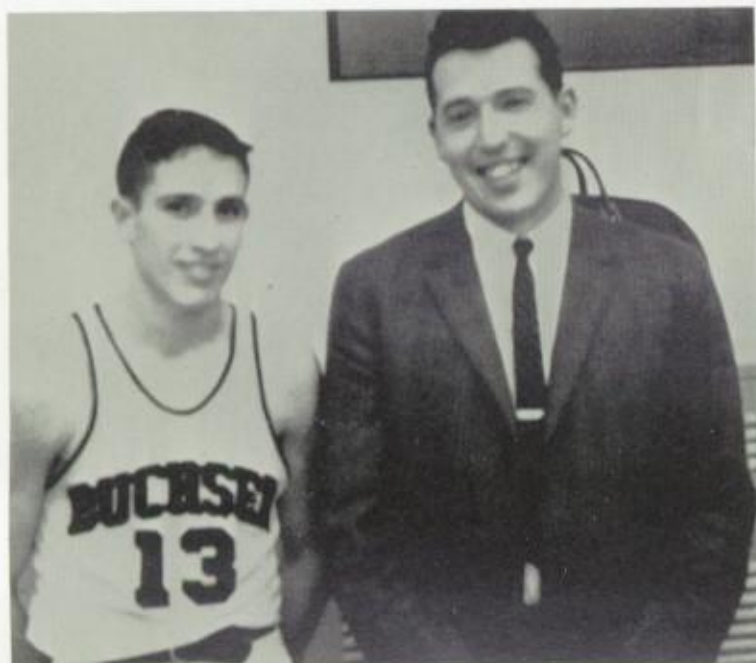

Ernie Garnica played well for the "C's" early in the season but was ineligible for the latter games.

RESERVES BREAK EVEN

Buchser's Bees, Junior Varsity and Frosh-Soph quintets failed to keep pace with the varsity showing but did manage to win their share of ball games.

The Bee's were for a time a title threat before hitting a mid-season slump but did manage to win the big ones over Santa Clara and Los Altos.

They ended up with 7 wins against 10 losses.

MATMEN TAKE

Dave Torres was named as both Buchser High's and the City's top wrestler.

Varsity wrestlers closed out the most successful season in Buchser history by placing fifth in a field of 54 entries at the North Coast finals at North Salinas High after barely being edged by champion Cupertino for the N-SCVAL grappling crown.

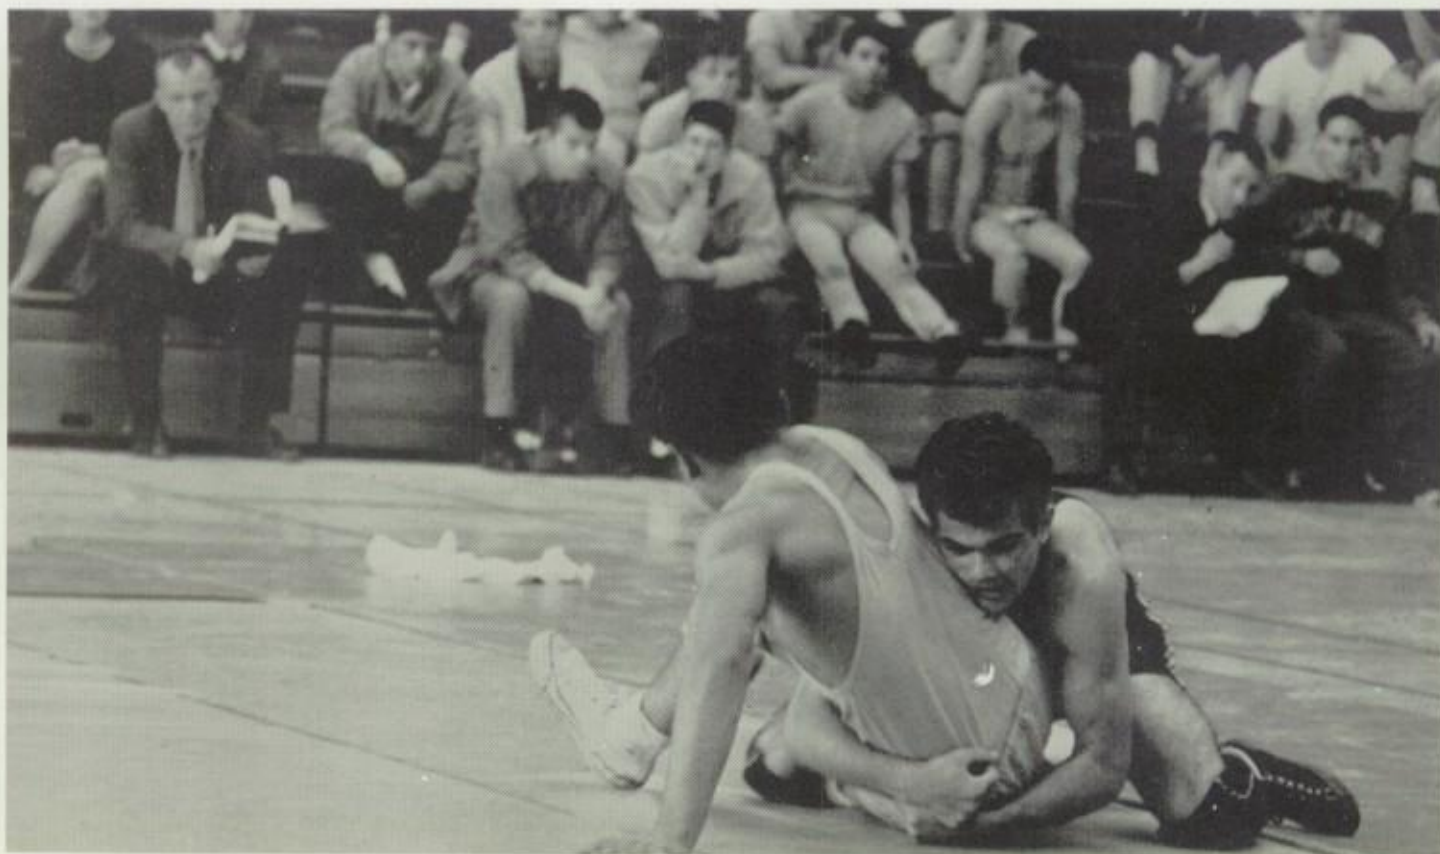

In the Northern California finals at Sacramento the following weekend, Dave Torres came in second in the 133 lb. class after losing to Cupertino's Rod Welch, voted the "wrestler of the year."

Coach Warren Hayashi, named as Buchser's "Coach of the Year" by Bear Prints, listed Tachibana (5-1-2), Vince Itatani (7-1-1), Vince Kubo (6-2-1), Dave Torres (5-1-2) and Jay Thomas (3-2) as the top Bruin grapplers.

Outstanding Junior Varsity matmen were Dave Becker, Mike Blumenthal, Juan Portillo, Fred Falk and Mike Herman.

Buchser's varsity opened its season with a smashing 36-7 win over Wilcox but bowed to champion Cupertino, league and Northern California king, in its second start.

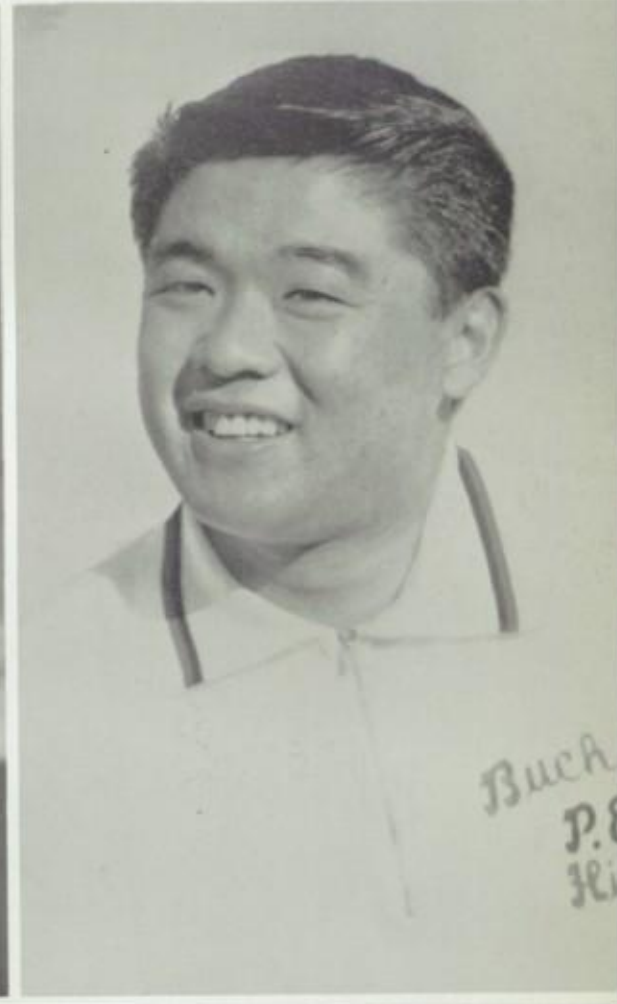

The Bruins then won seven consecutive dual meets, taking Fremont, 30-18; Homestead, 35-11; Los Altos, 29-16; Awalt and Mountain View. Santa Clara next absorbed an unmerciful 35-9 beating and Sunnyvale was edged 25-19 for second place in the loop standings.

Dave Torres is shown in action prior to pinning foe.

SECOND

Vince Itatani, Jay Thomas and Dave Torres received highest wrestling honors at the spring sports banquet. Itatani was N-SCVAL champ in the 112 lb. class.

Al Hejnal, winner in 7 out of 9 matches, demonstrates the importance of weight lifting in training for matches.
Warren Hayashi smiles after being named "Coach of the Year" to succeed Pat Penick, Coach of the 1961 N-SCVAL cross country champions.
Three prominent observers of the campus wrestling scene were "B" basketball coach Gary Gillmor, Principal Don Callejon, and vice-principal Robert Hileman.

BRUIN NINE'S PENNANT DREAM PROVES

Al Poole takes the pick-off toss from pitcher Ed Quintal in a vain effort to nab a Cupertino runner.

Mike Stuart, varsity captain, led Bruin hitters with a .400 average and was picked as all-N-SCVAL shortstop although playing most of season at second base.

MIRAGE

Rick Carlson races across the bag to beat the throw which pulls the Cupertino first baseman off the sack.

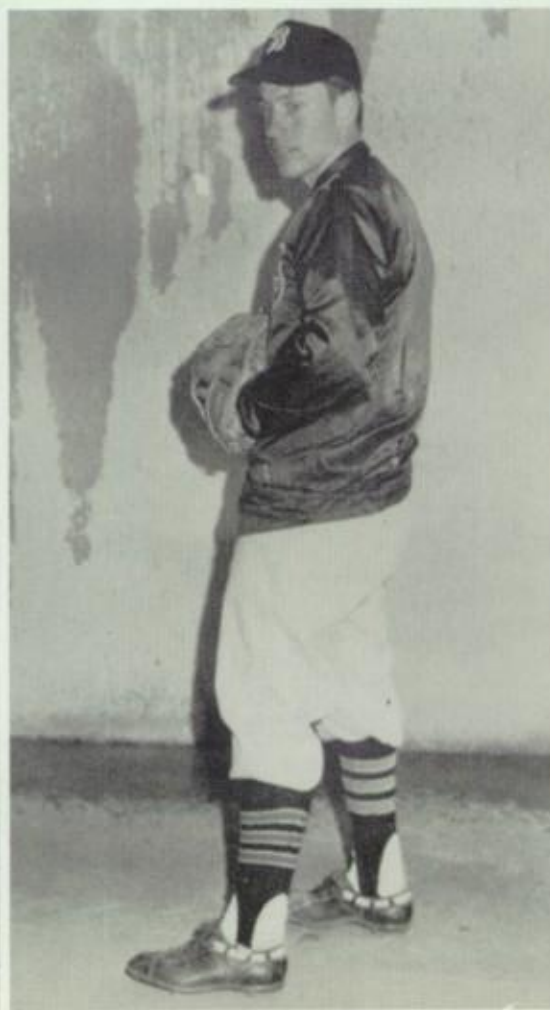

Boasting nearly an all-senior starting line-up plus one of the N-SCVAL's top hurlers in veteran Jack Hein, the Bruins were one of the pre-season choices for the pennant. The club finally finished with a 3-6 loop record as only second baseman Mike Stuart hit consistently through the season.

Varsity coach Tim Goode, making his first start, was optimistic early in the year as the Bruins upset the area's top club, Bellarmine, behind Hein's excellent relief chucking in an extra-inning contest.

All-league in his junior year, centerfielder Mike Cowan found his bat strangely silent throughout the campaign. Ray Escobar and Paul Sargenti hit occasionally but for the most part the Bruin hits were few and far between.

When Hein had his foot broken in the Los Altos game, the Bruins lost their last hope of finishing in the first division and followed their loss to the Knights with consecutive defeats by Fremont and Sunnyvale.

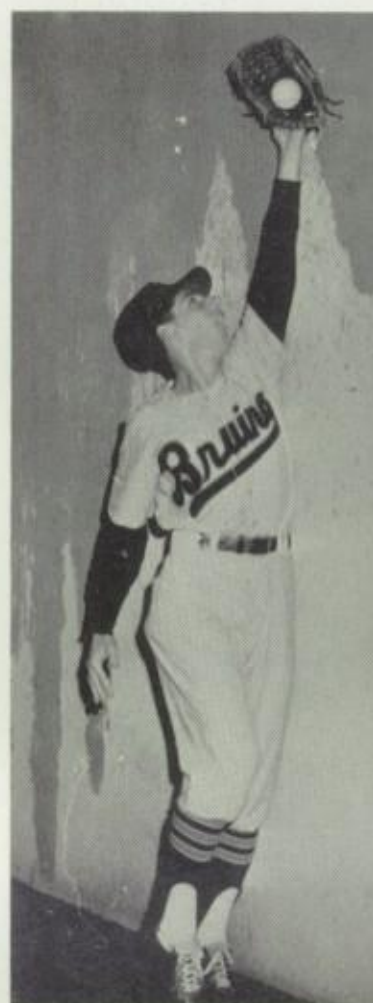

Catcher Paul Sargenti rips off the mask to go after a foul fly. Top chucker Jack Hein takes a set position as he warms up. Reg Gage grimaces as he takes his pre-game tosses.

DIAMONDEERS BLAST PANTHERS

Bruin's top batter, Mike Stuart, looks back to make certain the umpire saw the curve he let go by failed to dent the plate. First sacker Ed Quintal puts the tag on a base runner who took too big a lead off the sack.

Much of the Bruin batting punch was supplied by Al Poole, Ray Escobar, Mike Hildago and Mike Cowan.

Filling in for graduating seniors on next season's varsity are likely to be the "Big Four" of the strong soph-frosh nine, Jim Miceli, George Sylvia, Larry Bennett and Ernie Garnica.

First sacker Ed Quintal doubled as a pitcher when ace Jack Hein and Reg Gage were not on the mound.

OWN COACH ♦ ♦ ♦

Buchser's varsity track squad surprised even its own coach, John Sepulveda, by capturing dual meets from Sunnyvale, Santa Clara, Wilcox, Homestead and Mt. View while losing only to Fremont.

Bruin cindermen placed fifth among the 10 schools entered in the N-SCVAL finals with the 880 relay quartet winning in 1:31.3 and Joe Biber placing second in the mile with a 4:22.6 effort.

Len Sprinkles finished third in the 100 and fourth in the 220 and Phil Bruce came in fourth in the low hurdles and fifth in the highs. John Felsinger took an unanticipated second in the 440 with a time of :51.1.

Miler Joe Biber (right) set new school four lap mark and ranked among top distance runners in Northern California. Bruin relaymen are Len Sprinkles, Mike Chames, John Felsinger and Dave Escalante.

CAMPUS CARETAKERS

That part of life misunderstood,
Too often feared or cursed or blamed:
The simple silence; quiet good,
Of Time's eternal flame.

Yet this we know and this we pray,
Still comes the ancient trial;
And oft be met with great dismay,
So seldom with a smile.

Help us, O Lord, to know Your plan,
The happiness replacing breath,
So we might better understand
That part of life called death.

IN MEMORY . . .

of Kenneth Lapka, a fourteen-year-old Buchser cross country runner who died at a Stanford meet on October 18, 1962.

This poem is also dedicated to Michal Ray and Glen Snode, graduates of 1962 who were killed in auto accidents this year.

May death bring them the happiness which life had such little time to offer.

PERPL

Wait, thou child of hope, for Time shall teach thee all things.

SOPHOMORE CLASS ♦♦♦

Eager to become a vital part of the Bruin campus, the sophomores returned to Buchser with an air of experience. They were no longer puzzled by high school life. Time had brought them confidence.

Experimenting with organization, the sophomore class sponsored the Freshman Reception. They had "learned the ropes" of high school and were anxious to show them to the freshmen.

As the year wore on, the scholastic challenge became greater. Adult problems now perplexed them. There was so much to learn about this world, and so little time.

The tension of school was temporarily broken by the soph-sponsored Donkey Basketball Game. Suddenly serious sophomores welcomed the chance to laugh.

As school drew to a close for the welcome summer, the sophomores felt a hint of regret that their youth was nearly exhausted. Still, they yearned to become active members of a more adult life.

FRESHMAN CLASS...

A little frightened and very excited, the freshmen entered Buchser High in expectancy. They did not know what they would find here, but the present was their main concern now. Help seemed hard to come by when they met problems through the day. In desperation, they surrendered their problems to time.

The passing of time brought them the joys of Bruin life . . . the extended hand of friendship at their reception . . . dances galore . . . and the fun they found in working together during their magazine sale. Yes, the freshmen were beginning to feel quite at home on the campus.

Grateful for the relief of a summer vacation, the freshmen reflected on their first year at Buchser. They finally decided that it had been successful after all.

Footprints of high hopes are imprinted on the walls.

These memories

Student government policies and activities are planned by the officers during weekly meetings. 1962-63 officers are Karen O'Brien, treasurer; Glenna Thrower, secretary; Carol Kapiloff, entertainment manager; Vic Zgorzelski, president; Karen Frank, vice president; and Kathy Blamey, election clerk.

Student Council members began work before the opening of school, in order to publish "Bear Facts," Buchser's first handbook. After a year of service, the Council's activities culminated in a trip to San Francisco and a picnic.

An integral part of Buchser's student government is the President's Cabinet, organized in 1961. It consists of four commissioners: John Palmer, utilities; Doreen Susanj, student-teacher relations; Paula Manning, decorations; and George Elardo, publicity.

"Not guilty!" declared Friday night's jury; "Guilty!" contradicted the jury on Saturday night when the Junior Class Play, "The Night of January 16th," was presented.

Audience participation added an unusual twist to the production. Each night of the play, twelve people were selected from the audience to view the play from the jury box, and actually decide what the verdict should be.

"I'll now demonstrate how to take a bath without wasting motions." This is just one of the unusual time-saving techniques which Mr. Gilbreth, alias Maurice Demers, taught his family in the Senior Class Play, "Cheaper By the Dozen," presented Friday and Saturday nights, May 10 and 11.

Merry Klinge and Chris Hileman, portraying the two eldest Gilbreth children; Ernestine and Frank, recall some of their many memorable experiences as part of a family of twelve children.

Caroline Richards, playing a "typically British" school teacher refuses to believe that Ann Gilbreth, Elaine Fisher, may indeed be brilliant.

Cast as nine of the children and their parents were Barbara Teifeld, Al Garcia, Elaine Fisher, Virginia Morgan, Merry Klinge, Dave Torres, Robert Wolfe, Fred Comento, Chris Hileman, Maurice Demers, and Michele Moers.

"Till We Meet Again," the Senior Ball of '63, was staged at the fabulous Cabaña Club in Palo Alto on May 29. Two hundred and fifty-five couples waltzed to the music of Mel Di Salvo's ten piece dance band after touring the hotel. As the last fragrance of corsages faded from the Ball, seniors cherished the memories of a wonderful evening.

Bob Brill and Wendy Irby audition for a show to honor their hero, Joe Hardy.

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to . . . baseball, and this was the main theme of the musical fantasy.

The story is concerned with a fanatic, middle-aged fan of the last place Washington Senators who sells his soul to the devil in order to help the team win the pennant. He is transformed into a young man who is an extraordinary ballplayer. With his help at the plate and in the field, the Senators are able to rise from the "cellar" of the league.

Due to the combined efforts of the cast, the stage crew, Mr. Melvin Di Salvo and Mr. John Lambert, faculty advisors, and student director Eugene Stirm, the production greatly surpassed the typical high school musical.

Recognizing the achievements

Mr. Emil R. Buchser presents the Emil R. Buchser Scholarship to Elaine Fisher as a tribute to her extensive work for the school.

Buchser High School Awards were presented at two separate assemblies during the last week of school. The first assembly, on June 6, was devoted to departmental awards. The top six students from each department received recognition, and first, second, and third place awards were presented.

First place winners were Marti Thompson, Art; Barbara Pasley, Business; Judi Wilkinson, English; Careen Simpson, Foreign Language; Johanne Low, Girls' P.E.; Janet Landsay, Home Economics; Tim Loomis, Mathematics; Charrie Schieber, Journalism; Cheryl Melott, Music; Tim Loomis, Science; Judi Wilkinson, Social Science.

The second assembly was held on the last day of school, during which scholarships and achievement awards were received by seniors.

Phyllis Hendrick accepts a nursing scholarship from school nurse Jane Gordon.

Presentations were as follows: Phyllis Hendrick, Sigma Phi Gamma International Sorority Scholarship and Business and Professional Women's Nursing Scholarship; Louann Pomeroy and Victor Zgorzelski, American Legion Citizenship Awards; George Brown, Santa Clara Association of Independent Insurance Agents Award and California Savings and Loan Award; Linda Ellis and Rodolfo Gutierrez, Austen Warburton Awards; Georgia Nallick, Soroptimists Club Scholarship; Doreen Susanj, Santa Clara Teachers Association Scholarship; Charrie Schieber, Kiwanis Club Scholarship; Elaine Fisher, Emil R. Buchser Scholarship; Careen Simpson and Alvin Garcia, Buchser High School Faculty Club Scholarship; Judi Wilkinson and Len Sprinkles, Buchser High School Associated Student Body Scholarships.

Underclassmen were rated on the basis of scholastic standing with their class. First place in the junior class went to Pat Matsushita while Sue Davenport and Celia Legg were top students in the sophomore and freshman classes, respectively.

Bank of America Achievement trophies were given to Eugene Stirm, Fine Arts; Judi Wilkinson, Liberal Arts; George Brown, Science and Mathematics; and Bill Coble, Vocational Arts.

Eugene Stirm is awarded the Bank of America Fine Arts trophy for his achievement in this field.

of the future ♦♦♦

Following the precedent set by the 1962 class, graduation was held in the quad during the early hours of the evening on June 14.

Ceremonies began with an invocation by Father Angelo Re and the flag salute. After valedictory and salutatory speeches and remarks by Superintendent Wendell Huxtable, diplomas were presented to graduates.

The school concert band played a majestic recessional as the large class marched by two's past the audience, through the flowered arch, and into the future.

Judi Wilkinson, as Salutatorian, spoke of the challenge facing young Americans.

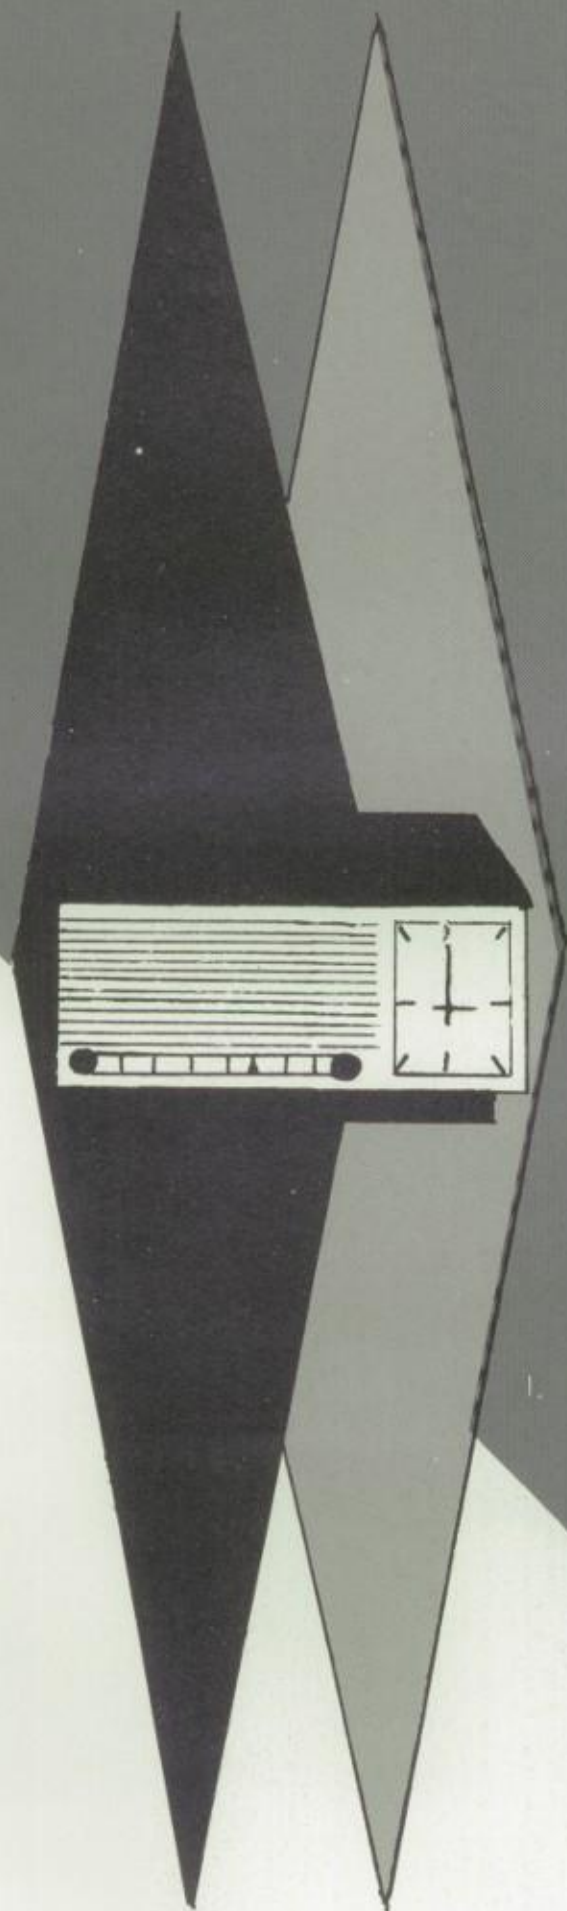

Valedictorian Careen Simpson who boasted a 4.0 grade average delivered an address entitled "These Things We Value."

Time has brought the graduates to the threshold of the long-anticipated future. The feeling of accomplishment is strong in them, overpowered only by the awareness of the challenge of the trials which lie ahead.

School spirit has reached its peak as each graduate reflects on the wonderful days of the past and sings the alma mater for the last time. He begins now to appreciate the education he received at Buchser High.

As each student graduates, he leaves his imprint — his shadow — on Buchser High. A part of him goes forward to meet the world while the other part remains at the school which he has affected and which has affected him in return. His shadow reflects the individual influence which he has had on Bruin character.

In view of their shadows of integrity we would like to wish happiness to the class of '63 and to its predecessors.

We would also like to express our gratitude to the following:

Mr. Donald Callejon for his interest and guidance.

Mr. Wade Brummal, yearbook advisor, for his work and his understanding when "things got rough."

Taylor Publishing Company for its patience and for the excellence of the finished product.

The S. K. Smith Company for the beautiful KODIAK cover.

John Souza for his cover design.

The Tony Rose Studio for its photography and co-operation, with special thanks to Tony Rose and his assistant, Paul Bacosa.

The Don Bosco Studio, the Camera Club, and KODIAK photographer, Bob Frank, for the remainder of the pictures.

The faculty of Buchser High for its patience when classes were interrupted in order that students might be photographed.

The advertisers whose financial assistance provided more color for our yearbook.

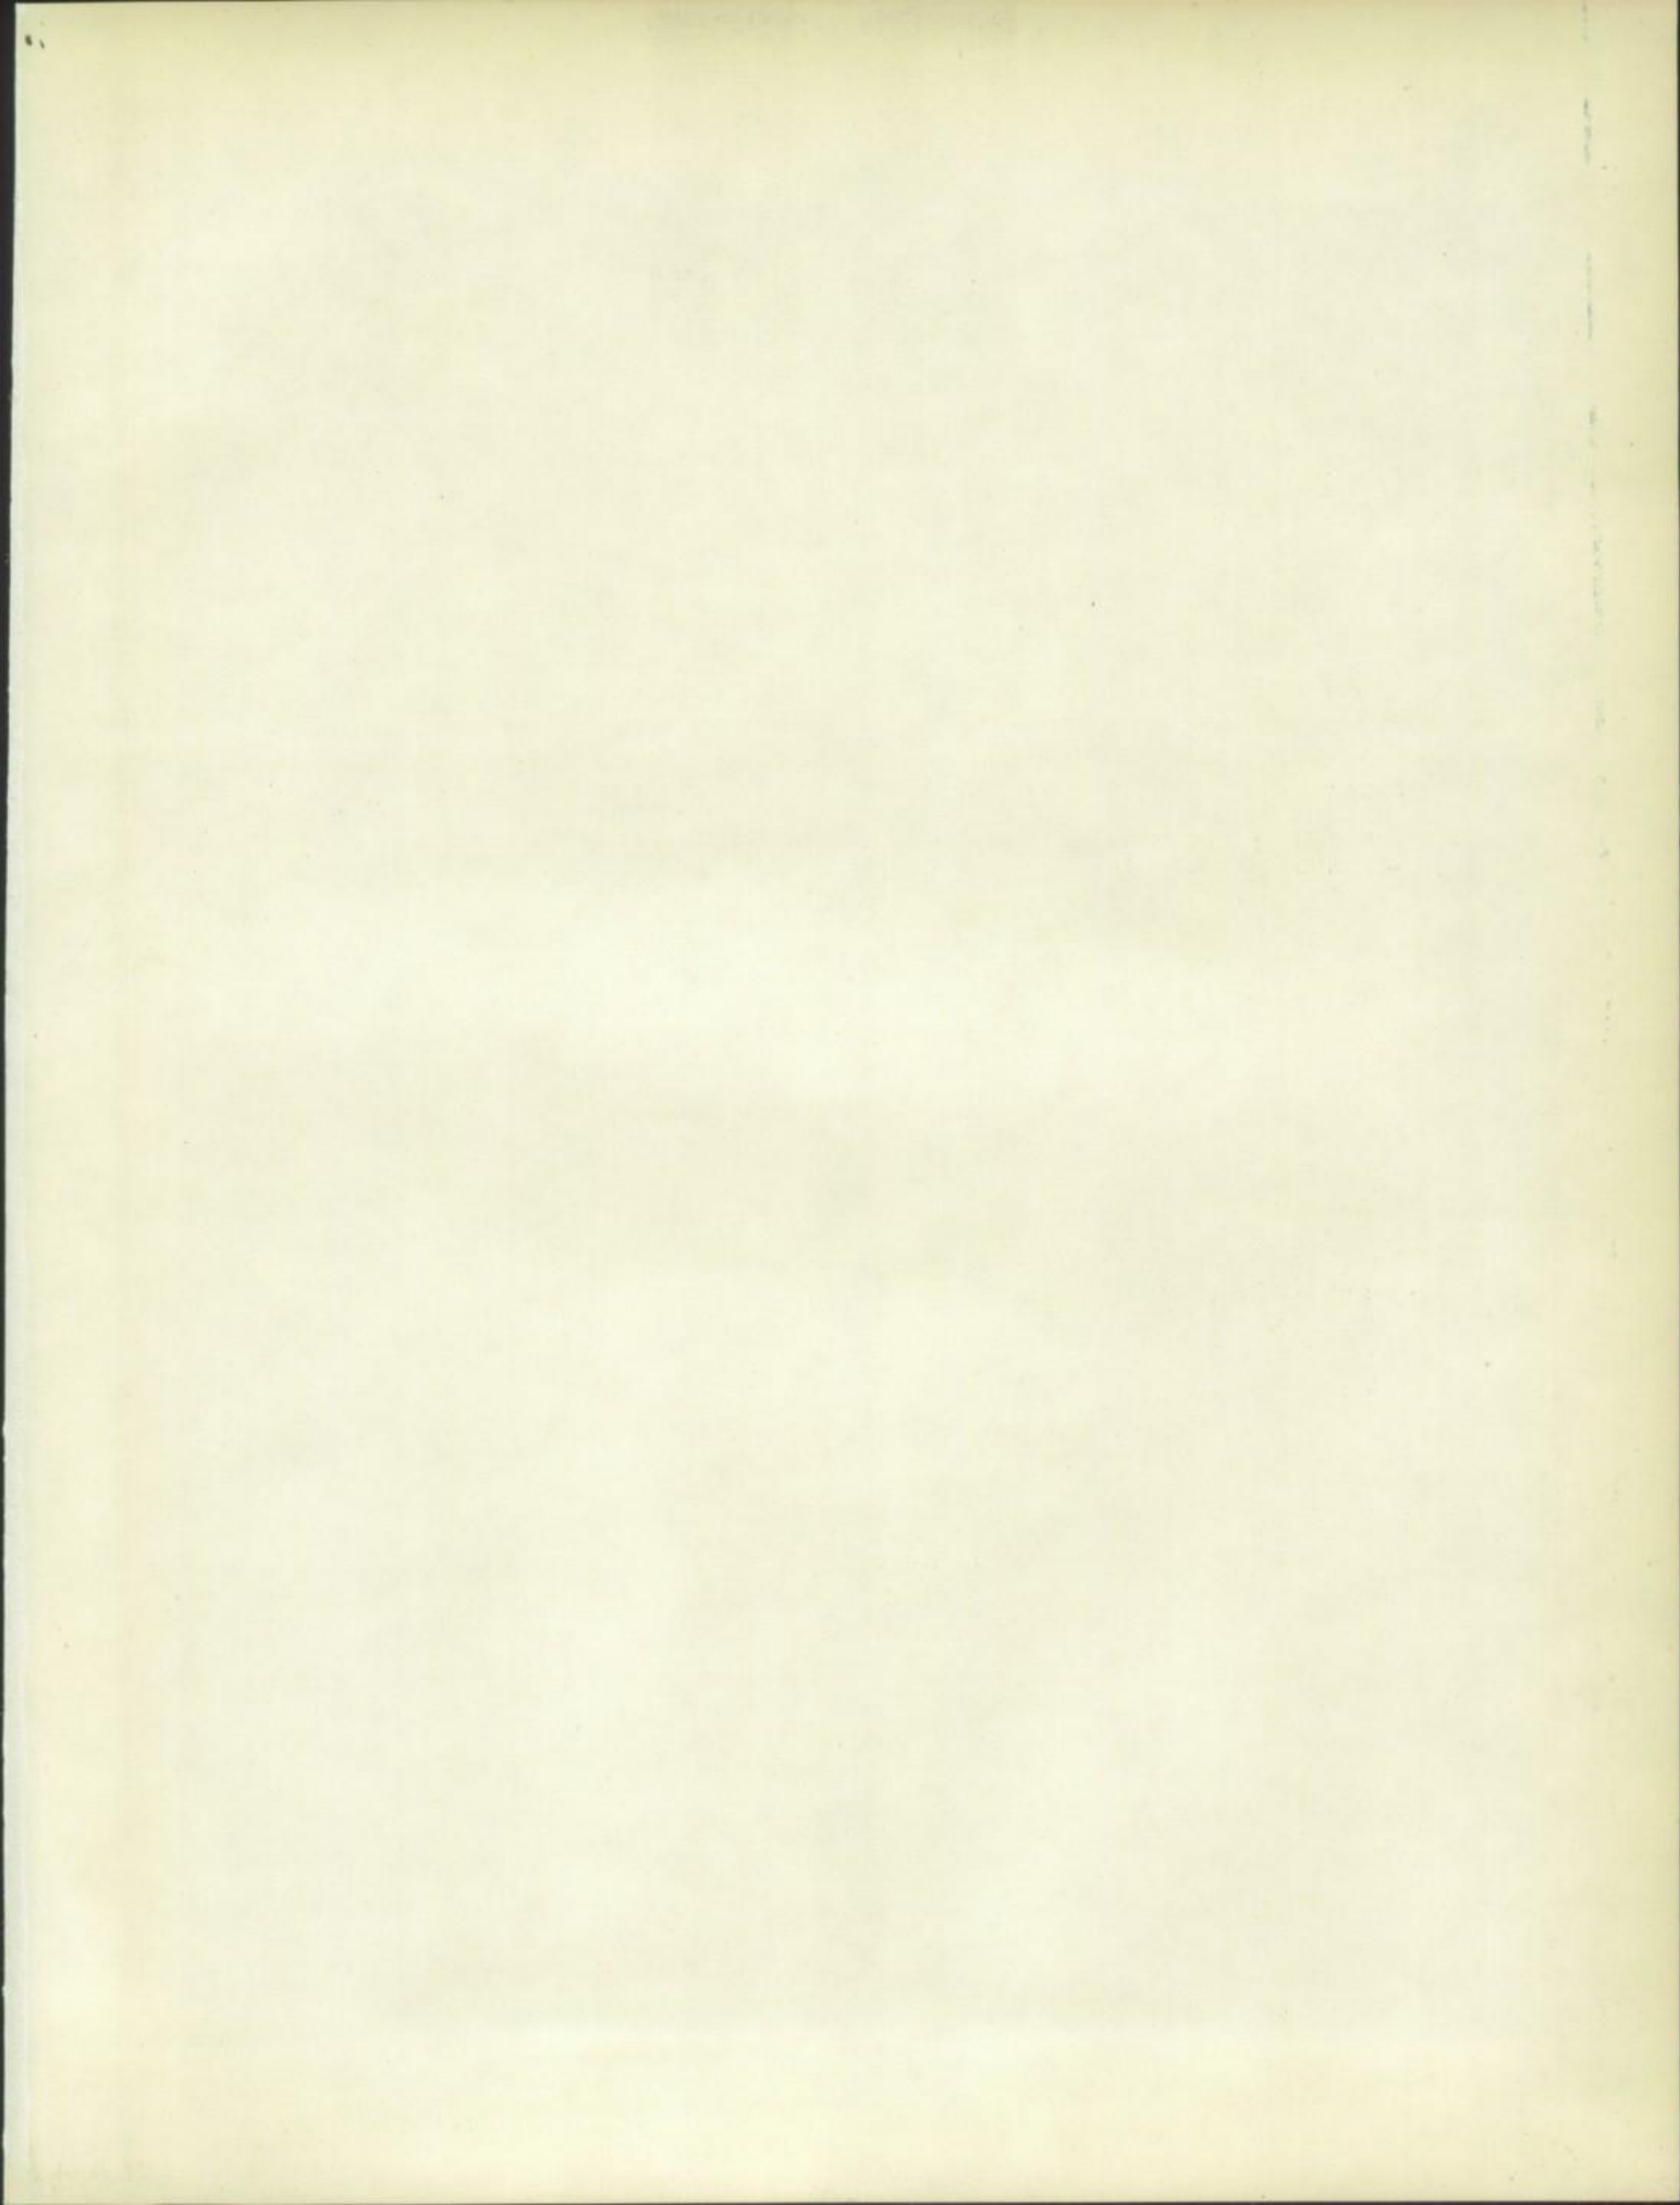

And finally, the KODIAK staff members whose diligence and suggestions made this book possible. They are Sandi Baker, Bonni Mitchell, Karen O'Brien, Nancy Schrader, Karin Schuette, John Souza, Gretchen Smith, Sheryl Thogerson, and Gary Williams.

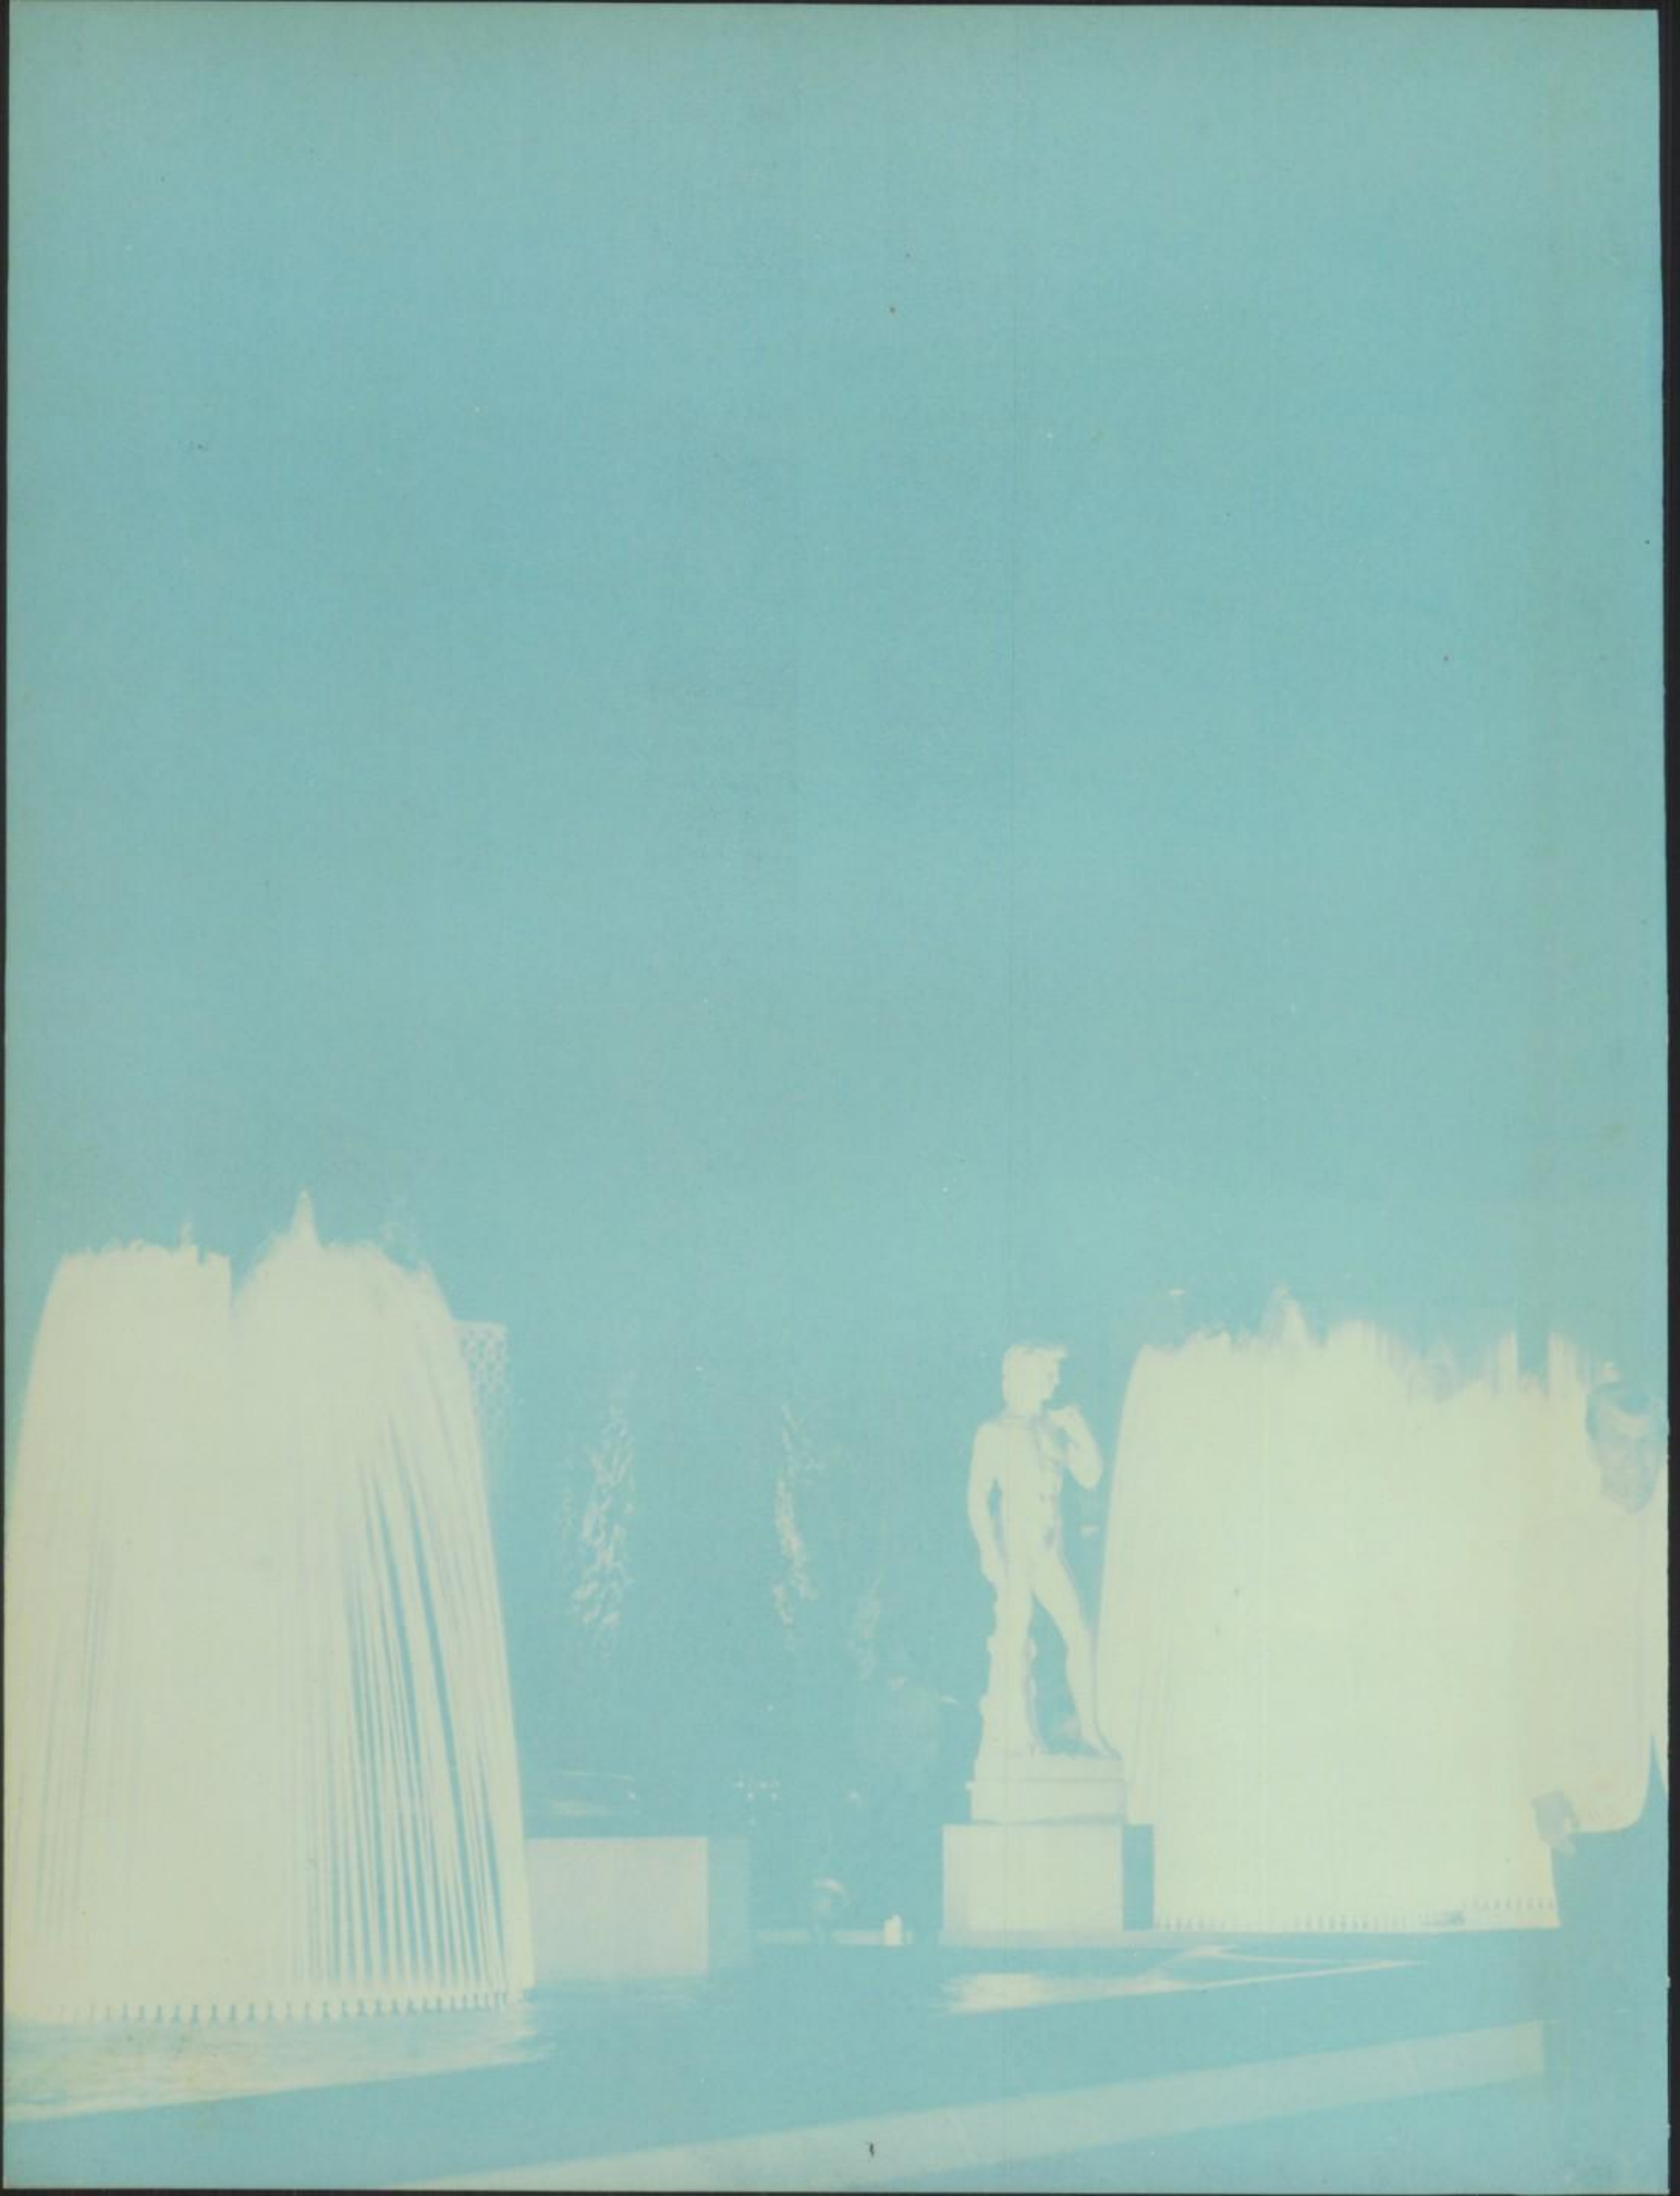

Sincerely,

THE EDITORS
